TITO'S ENVOY TO RUSSIA RECALLED

Harmony Rules At Army, Navy Chiefs Caucus

Bitterly Estranged Admirals, Generals "Get Along Fine"

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — Bitterly estranged admirals and generals sat down around the table today in what Gen. Omar N. Bradley called a "harmonious" meeting of the U. S. Joint chiefs of staff.

Just what they said to each other was kept secret. But the fact that they met at all was considered news, because there had been predictions that they might never work together again, so great has been the split.

Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, chief of Naval operations, was among those present. At House hearings he and other admirals assailed the handling of the unified defense setup, saying the Navy was being woefully weakened, to the detriment of the national security. Gen. Bradley, who is chairman of the joint chiefs, thereupon struck back at "fancy dan" admirals.

Bradley Is Quizzed

"How did things go, General?"

"Fine, fine," the chairman replied.

Was the meeting harmonious?

"Sure," answered Bradley, poker-faced.

Was the testimony before the House Committee brought up?

"I have no statement," Bradley answered. "It was just a normal meeting of the J. C. S."

Bradley left the conference room by one entrance, most of the remaining members by another, but Bradley hastened to discount this.

"The fact that they went out the other entrance has no significance," he said. "They always go the other way."

As he walked down a corridor of the huge Pentagon Building, Bradley, threw an arm about the shoulder of Rear Admiral Arthur C. Davis, director of the joint staff. They talked and smiled.

Collins, Fairchild Together

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, came out with Gen. Muir Fairchild, vice chief of Air Staff who represented Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg at the meeting. Vandenberg, chief of air staff, was in Puerto Rico.

Earlier in the day Secretary of Defense Johnson talked over the armed forces row with President Truman, but later kept silent about a possible shakeup in the Navy high command.

"We are just working on unification and it is coming along," Johnson told newsmen as he left the White House.

The defense chief refused either to confirm or deny reports that Vice Admiral Forrest Sherman, commander of the U. S. Sixth Task Fleet in the Mediterranean, would succeed Admiral Louis E. Denfeld as chief of Naval operations.

During the recent stormy hearings before the House Armed Services Committee, Denfeld was one of the Navy's strongest critics of policies adopted by the unified defense setup. He and other admirals charged that the Navy's power was being dangerously weakened.

Chinese Reds Near Kwangsi

CHUNGKING, Oct. 25 (AP) — Chinese Communist troops smashed today at two gateway cities to Kwangsi Province, the last major nationalist foothold in South China.

Official dispatches admitted the Reds broke into Tungan, on the main route to Kweilin, captial of Wangsi. They said the Reds were driven out after bitter street fighting. Tungan is 90 miles northeast of Kweilin.

Other communist forces were trying to force their way into the province through the river port of Tsangwu (Wuchow) on Kwangsi's eastern border.

Wuchow, 160 miles southeast of Kweilin and 130 miles west of Canton, controls the West River invasion route into Kwangsi province. The defense ministry said fighting was in progress southeast of Tsangwu.

The nationalists asserted they had conuterattacked at the outskirts of Chihkiang, in Western Hunan province 150 miles north of Kweilin. Chihkiang is the potential springboard for a communist invasion of Kweichow, the province between Kwangsi and Chungking's Szechwan Province.

Czech Priests Told To Take Loyalty Oath

Some Reservations Made By Bishops

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, Oct. 25 (AP)—Czechoslovakia Roman Catholic Bishops gave ground in the church-state fight today. They said prietsts may swear loyalty to the communist government and accept government salaries — with reservations.

President Klement Gottwald named his communist son-in-law, Justice Minister Alexei Cepicka, to head the cabinet office set up by recently enacted laws to control church finances, appointments, administration and pay. Cepicka has declared that opponents of the laws will be "broken as an enemy of the state."

The bishops took their new stand to permit the country's 7,000 priests to stay out of jail. Church sources report that nearly 300 priests already have been put behind bars for opposing the church legislation.

The bishop's statement, sent to all priests and released to the western press, said "it is necessary to defend you against possible consequences and save you for the spiritual care of the faithful."

Furthermore, it offered, "if invited," to participate in the church sections of the regional national committees, the executive bodies which administer government affairs on a city and district level. It was reported without confirmation, that church and state leaders might try to resume negotiation of a church-state agreement. Negotiations were broken off last spring, when the bishops declared they would not be resumed until the government stopped its "hostile campaign."

Army Will Give Discharges To Men With Year

Gen. Says Draft Machinery Must Be Kept Ready

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 25 (AP) —The Army plans to offer discharges beginning December 1 to men with at least a year's service inducted under the Peacetime Draft Act.

Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray announced the new policy today in an address before the annual conference of the National Guard Association.

His announcement punctuated a continuing barrage aimed by Guard leaders at any attempt to bring the Guard under federal control. Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, National Selective Service director, put in what appeared to be a plug for renewal of the draft law which expires next June.

He told the conference that keeping the draft machinery in readiness is vital to the nation's survival.

Since men between 18 and 25 are those we must depend on in case of another war, he said, they "are entitled to some forewarning and some training."

Hershey predicted that within a few years there will be less than 200,000 men of fighting age with military training unless Selective Service is continued.

Comdr. John P. Bracken of Washington, D. C., president of the Reserve Officers' Association, joined the battle against those who want to federalize the guard.

His organization was once a strong advocate of taking control from the states.

He charged that in the case of the Organized Reserve Corps, the Army "has failed miserably to do the job" of training personnel for future call.

Bracken suggested a joint ROA-National Guard committee work out an alternative to federalization and submit it to defense secretary Louis Johnson's civilian component policy board.

The Army secretary estimated about 30,000 men would be eligible for discharge in December under the revised draft plan.

They were inducted under requirement of 21 months' service provided in the draft law.

Envoys Agree Tito Needed

LONDON, Oct. 25 (INS)—America's diplomats to the iron curtain countries agreed unanimously tonight that Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government "must be preserved at all costs."

A high-ranking U. S. Diplomat revealed the decisions of the ambassadors and ministers to the countries of Eastern Europe at the end of a two-day conference in London on charting U. S. strategy against communist propaganda.

This spokesman said that Tito's resistance to the Kremlin has boosted prospects of similar revolts in other Balkan countries and in Poland.

Postmistress Must Stop Using Yule Tree Stamp

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — The Post Office stood pat tonight on its decision that the postmistress at Christmas, Fla., must quit stamping tiny green Christmas trees and yuletide slogans on holiday mail.

Mrs. Juanita S. Tucker, the postmistress, has been putting the little green trees on mail sent out of Christmas for many years. Her rubber-stamped trees, sitting in rubber-stamped tubs and lit with rubber-stamped candles, didn't change much from one year to the next. But each season Mrs. Tucker stamped a new slogan beneath them.

Five years later, the year the war ended, it was "Peace on Earth".

Mrs. Tucker might have gone on putting Christmas trees and slogans on mail indefinitely if her idea hadn't proved so popular. Snowed under by 150,000 pieces of mail, she asked for more help to handle it.

The postoffice responded by giving her more help and raising the Christmas office from fourth to third class, which gave Mrs. Tucker a raise. But later it ruled also that she would have to give up her Christmas stamping habits.

Today, with Christmas only two months away, Senator Holland (D-Fla) appealed to Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson to relax this ban.

"There must be some way in your maze of regulations to authorize continuance of this long-standing custom," Holland wrote.

Slayer Tells Governor "I Want To Die"

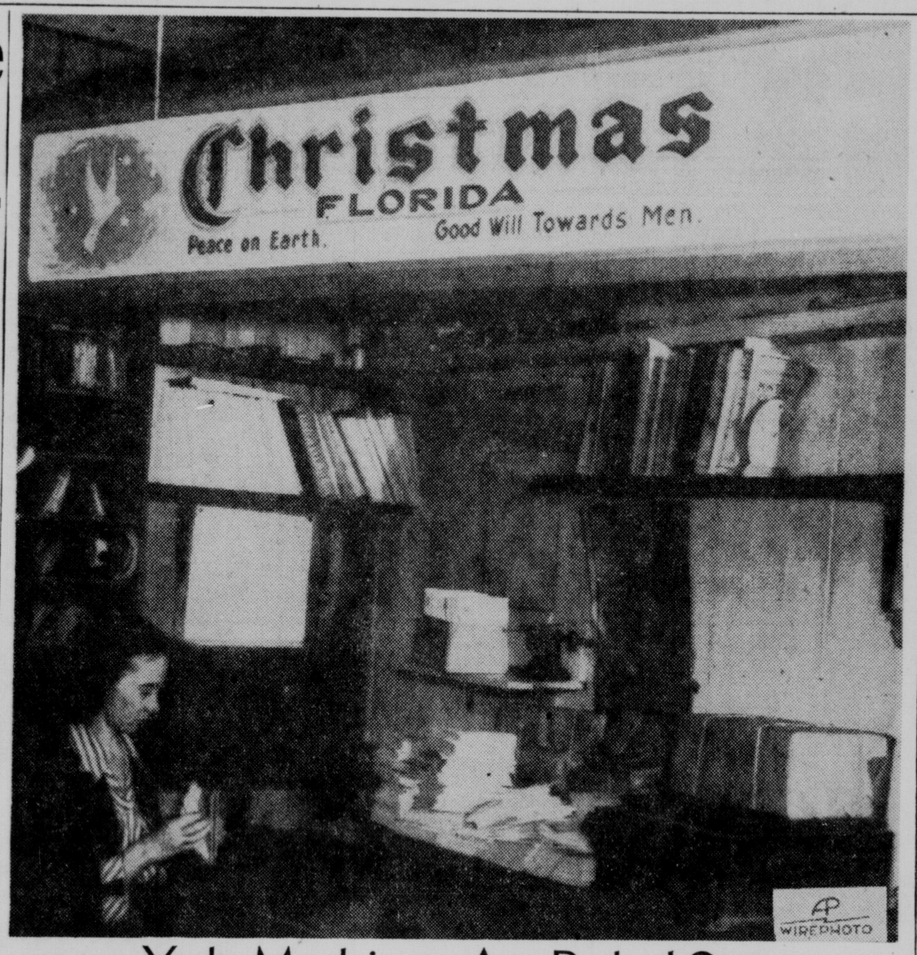

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 25 (AP) — A 20-year-old murderer doesn't want his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Reed Leroy Hatton wrote Gov. Fuller Warren that he wanted to explain "Why I want to die."

"All my life I have been fouled around," he wrote. "People just naturally take a hate toward me. The only thing that makes me feel bad is all my mother is trying to do. I do appreciate it but in time my mother will see it is for the best.

"I am not sad at all because all my life has been unrest. Now it will be rest."

Hatton's family is seeking to have his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment on grounds of insanity. He was convicted for the murder of Willie Riley in 1948.

Yule Markings Are Ruled Out

Mrs. Juanita S. Tucker sorts mail in her postoffic e at Christmas, Fla. but hereafter she will not be permitted to stamp tiny Yule tree and Christmas slogans on post cards and letters mailed from there. The postoffice department says she'll have to quit the practice. (Story Bottom of Page)

Coal-Steel Deadlocks Continue To Grow But President Still Shuns Intervention

Truman Gets Report On Worsening Crisis

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) — President Truman got a full report today on the worsening steel-coal crisis. But the White House said he still had no plans for taking a direct hand in the two strikes.

There was some speculation that the President may call the steel industry disputants to a White House conference later this week.

While there was no confirmation for this, it was noted that Philip Murray, head of the CIO and its striking steel workers union, is coming this way from Cleveland meetings with CIO leaders. Murray is due to speak at a New York city political rally Thursday night.

A no-progress report on the steel and coal strikes was made to the White House by Cyrus S. Ching, the government's mediation chief. Ching talked for 45 minutes with the President's assistant, John R. Steelman.

Irving S. Olds, chairman of U. S. Steel Corporation, reported no end to the steel strike is "immediately in sight." Olds told a news conference in New York that U. S. Steel's striking employees have already lost $46,000,000 in wages.

He said this is more than they would have paid in a year if they had accepted U. S. Steel's pension plan calling for worker contributions. Murray's union is holding out for a pension-insurance plan financed solely by employers.

Olds also reported that U. S. Steel has lost 2,200,000 tons of steel production since the strike started October 1.

U. S. Steel's directors, declaring a regular quarterly dividend, reported the company's net income for the third quarter of 1949 was $39,171,144, compared with $44,123,595 for the second quarter of the year and $34,599,132 for the third quarter of 1948.

In Cleveland the CIO's executive board pledged "moral, organizational and financial support" for Murray's steel strike. It did not pledge any fixed amount of money aid. There were signs that some of the payless steel strikers were beginning to grumble.

Coal strike negotiations with Southern Operators resumed at Bluefield, W. Va., John L. Lewis, head of the striking miners, stayed in Washington. Negotiations between the union and the northern and western operators collapsed last week.

Tokyo Rose Asks Release On Bail

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25 (AP) — Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, convicted of treason for "Tokyo Rose" broadcasts from Japan in wartime, asked today to be released on bail pending an appeal.

She is under sentence of 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Notice of appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has been filed. It was this court that heard arguments today on the petition for bail. A decision may be reached this week.

Parachute Jumper Literally Pulled Out Of Thin Air

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., Oct. 25 (AP)—A parachute jumper snatched a companion literally from the thin air to safety today.

The rescue was made when the two parachutists were about half way down a 1,000-foot jump from a slow-flying C-82 transport plane.

They collided in the air and before they got untangled, the parachute of Pfc. Charles A. Dye, Akron, Ohio, collapsed. He began to hurtle earthward.

As Dye's chute went by him, Sgt. Marvin O. Smith of Huntsville, Ala., reached out and caught the trailing shroud lines. His own open 'chute carried them both safely the remaining 500 feet of the jump.

Attlee's Program Called 'Too Timid'

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP) — Three parties — conservatives, liberals and independent leftists — called Prime Minister Attlee's economy program too timid tonight and demanded the downfall of his labor government.

Attlee went to Buckingham Palace for a private audience with King George. It was his second audience in eight days. The first was before he announced he had no intention of calling a general election this year.

The House of Commons is to vote on four motions Thursday after a two-day debate on the economy program announced yesterday — a 25 per cent cut in dollar spending for imports and an eight per cent cut in the government budget outlay for the year.

That program already has drawn down on Attlee the hardest criticism from the press since he took office in 1945. Critics said Attlee's economy was "too little and too late."

The first motion is by Attlee, demanding a vote of confidence.

The second is an amendment by Winston Churchill's Conservatives, declaring the government is "taking no sufficient measures" to prevent inflation and restore the national credit abroad.

The third is by the Liberal Party's 10 members in the House of Commons. It "condemns the inadequacy" of the Attlee program.

The fourth is a motion of censure by the independent labor group — a half dozen left wingers ousted from the Labor Party — which objects to the mere four per cent slash in the outlay for defense.

British Bill Revealed

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP) — Britain owes the United States $4,779,000,000 the government made known today.

Southern Operators Are Given Ultimatum

By HERB LITTLE

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Oct. 25 (AP)—Southern Coal Operators said they were handed an ultimatum today that miners must have higher pay, a shorter day and a bigger welfare fund royalty in a new wage contract.

The United Mine Workers demands were disclosed by President Joseph E. Moody of the Southern Coal Producers Association after a three-hour contract bargaining session. He said the demands were not made in specific terms.

As to the prospects for settlement of the 36-day old coal strike, Moody said:

"We're certainly pessimistic as the devil tonight."

UMW President John L. Lewis did not attend the session. The union's secretary - treasurer, John Owens, made no comment on today's proceedings.

Moody said:

"We were faced with an ultimatum by the union representatives that as prerequisite to any negotiations, we must accede to their demand for a 7-hour day, a substantial increase in tonnage and day pay rates and an increase in contributions to the welfare fund as it is now constituted.

Bette Davis' Mate Seeks Psycho-Aid To Keep Star

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25 (INS) — William Grant Sherry said today that he will undergo a complete psychiatric treatment in an attempt to save his marriage to Screen Actress Bette Davis from divorce.

The husky painter of marine scenes and landscapes said he would be psychoanalyzed at the suggestion of his actress-wife, famed for her neurotic screen portrayals.

Bette, he said, had told him that she would delay the divorce proceedings until he had been psychoanalyzed.

Furthermore, he insisted that he did not blame Bette for "getting fed up with my horrible temper and leaving me." He said:

"I don't blame her one bit. I have a horrible temper and I would fly into a tantrum at the slightest provocation — sometimes without any provocation.

"She told me that she just couldn't take it any more. She said that if she were just a housewife it wouldn't make any difference — I could fly into a rage any time I wanted.

"But because she is a big star in films, she had to have what she called 'peace of mind.' She also said that my tantrums were undermining her self respect.

"I always thought that this psychiatry stuff was silly, but Bette insisted that I be psychoanalyzed. She said that if doctors are able to solve the cause of my tempers, she will come back to me and the divorce action will be cancelled."

Sherry said that he has yet to make an appointment with an eastern psychiatrist.

Drugs To Fight Cold Released For Public Use

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Two drug firms today announced that antiallergy drugs to fight the common cold had been released for public sale without prescription.

Both belong to the family of drugs, called antihistaminics, used to combat hay fever, hives and other allergies. Their use for colds is based upon recent findings that colds often start by an allergic reaction, and that colds may be stopped or eased, if the antihistaminic drug is taken early enough.

Both firms said their drugs had proven effective in treating colds, and were safe enough to use without a doctor's prescription. One drawback of many antihistaminic drubs is that they often cause sleepiness or other bad effects.

"VEEP" Again Visiting Widow In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25 (AP)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley is out here again courting Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, but he hasn't been bothered by reporters or photographers.

They didn't know he was around until the news leaked out today. Mrs. Hadley, 37-year-old widow, said the 71-year-old Kentuckian arrived Saturday.

No, Mrs. Hadley said, there is no "special romantic significance" attached to the visit.

Second American Diplomat Ordered Out By Czechs

John C. Heyn Is Accused Of Spying

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 25 (AP) — For the second time in five days, the Communist Czechoslovak Government today ordered the expulsion of an American embassy official on charges of spying.

The newly named official, declared persona non grata, is John C. Heyn, assistant attache in the embassy's political department. However, he is already out of the country. Embassy sources said he was either in Germany or Vienna and would not return to Prague.

Heyn was accused of industrial espionage and attempting to learn Czechoslovak state secrets about industrial production and commercial relations. He was charged with using Czechoslovak citizens to gather this information.

He was assistant to Isaac Patch, the embassy's political attache, who was expelled last Friday on 24 hours notice. Heyn came to Prague April 19. His home is in Springdale, Conn.

Patch and an embassy clerk, Samuel Meryn, were accused by the government of directing a widespread espionage ring. Patch denied the accusations.

Meryn was imprisoned Friday and still is held incommunicado. He faces trial in a Czech court on spy charges.

Italy Refuses To Quit Pact

The chamber, dominated by parties making up Premier Alcide De Gasperi's cabinet, in effect voted confidence in the pro-Western policies of Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza.

Sforza had just finished a policy speech in which he said Italy was determined not to "fall into Eastern vassalage."

The Leftist motion was presented by Pietro Nanni, leader of the pro-Communist Socialists. It was turned down by a show of hands. It had called upon Italy to "return to the policy of disarmament and collective security."

Soviets Accuse Ambassador Of Spy Activities

Brings Diplomatic Relations Close To Complete Break

LONDON, Wednesday, Oct. 26 (AP) —The Soviet Union said today it has demanded the recall of the Yugoslav Ambassador to Moscow because he is guilty of "spying and subversive activities" against Russia.

The action followed Russia's renunciation last month of her treaty of friendship with Yugoslavia. It brought Moscow perilously close to a full diplomatic break with Marshal Tito's government.

Karl Mrazovic, the Yugoslav Ambassador to Russia, went to Moscow last December 16. When relations between Yugoslavia and Russia were already near the boiling point.

The economic squeeze put on Yugoslavia by Russia and her eastern satellites was in full effect. Moscow dispatches at the time said only a minor Russian protocol officer was sent to greet Mrazovic on his arrival.

The Moscow radio, which announced the demand for the recall of Mrazovic, said it was contained in a note handed to the Yugoslav embassy in Moscow yesterday.

The text of the note:

"The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics has been authorized by the Soviet Government to inform the Yugoslav government of the following:

"During the Budapest trial of the state criminal and spy (Laszlo) Rajk and his accomplices it was established that the present Yugoslav Ambassador in the U.S.S.R., Mrazovic, had for a long time engaged in spying and subversive activities against the Soviet Union, and while being Yugoslav ambassador in the U.S.S.R., had come out in the Yugoslav press with slanderous fabrications against the Soviet Union.

"In view of this the Soviet Government considers it impossible for Mrazovic to continue to be Yugoslavia's diplomatic representative in the U.S.S.R."

The Soviet demand that Marshal Tito recall his ambassador was the latest development in the feud between Yugoslavia and the Cominform—the Soviet-led association of eastern Communist nations which has accused Tito of being anti-Russian and deviating from the true Marxist line.

It started in June of 1948 with the original Cominform denunciation and has waxed hotter ever since.

Diplomatic sources in London speculated on Monday that Russia was planning new moves in a cold war of nerves against Yugoslavia. But these sources discounted rumors that Russia was planning direct military action against Yugoslavia.

The Soviet Union suffered a defeat on the diplomatic front last week when Yugoslavia was elected to the United Nations Security Council over Czechoslovakia, the latter a faithful member of the Cominform.

In dragging up testimony from the Rajk treason trial in Hungary the Russians were falling back on a device used when the Cominform nations scrapped their treaties of friendship with Yugoslavia last month.

Widow Describes Engel's Wooing

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—A red-haired widow told a jury today how Sigmund (Sam) Engel brought love, European fashion, into her life at a cost of $8,700.

"He kissed each of my fingers," Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39, of Chicago, testified.

"And my ears and my neck," she went on. "And my little feet." She showed the jury her feet but did not remove her shoes.

Engel, 73 and white haired, sat nearby with a later object of his ardent affections. She is Mrs. Pauline Langton Engel of New York, erstwhile complainant turned devoted wife and defender of Sam's faith.

Mrs. Corrigan, her face set off by a green feather-decked hat with a wide kelly green chin strap, talked to the six men and six women of the criminal court jury.

She took them down the road of romance that began on busy Michigan Boulevard and ended in the Newark, N. J., airport—a bride-to-be left at the altar, and without her bankroll besides.

She was on Michigan Avenue when a man grabbed her hands, she said, and remarked, "amazing, amazing, amazing."

Insulin Versus Diet In Treating Diabetes Raises Medical Dispute

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP) — Can 99 per cent of diabetics stay well without insulin? Can diet alone keep them well?

These questions broke at the American Chemical Society meeting in Atlantic City in September, where Dr. Michael Somogyi, of St. Louis, said it can be done. He is a famous biochemist.

Authorities on diabetes replied it wasn't true, and that Dr. Somogyi wasn't a physician. The controversy got so hot that Dr. Linus Pauling, president of the society, wired Dr. Howard F. Root, president of the American Diabetes Association, Boston, that Somogyi did not say he himself treats diabetes but that collaborating physicians gave the treatments.

Subsequent reports make it appear that the two sides are not so far apart. Dr. Somogyi doesn't advocate scrapping insulin, but wants it used differently.

One of these reports is a new publication by Somogyi, in the bulletin of the Jewish Hospital, St Louis, where the new diabetic work was mostly done. The other is a letter to the Associated Press from Dr. Edmund L. Shlevin, president of the New York Diabetes Association, Inc.

Dr. Somogyi repeats that 99 per cent is possible, and that 95 per cent success has been achieved for some time.

But he says this is not always done without using insulin at the start of treatment. It is insulin, he says, which finally makes it possible to get along without medicine. There are exceptions in mild cases where insulin is not necessary even at the start if diet is right.

Somogyi says it is not possible for persons now using large doses of insulin to reduce dosage suddenly or to abandon it.

"They can be restored," he writes, "to a mild state of diabetes only by a painstaking, often long, process, and only by expert clinicians who have training in the application of principles derived from my experiments."

Those principles include evidence that insulin can make diabetes worse instead of better if improperly used.

Somogyi says a dose of 20 units of insulin, an amount five times under what many persons get, should be enough after the mild stage has been reached.

He bases his predictions on 14 years treatment of 4,000 diabetics, several hundred of them serious cases which were brought from severe to mild. The physicians who did this were at the St. Louis Jewish Hospital and the St. Louis City Hospital.

He says insulin is poisonous as sometimes given, and he cites a card sometimes carried by a diabetic reading:

"If I am found unconcious or behaving abnormally, my condition is probably the result of an overdose of insulin. I am not intoxicated."

Dr. Shlevin notes that Dr. Somogyi is one of the nation's leading biochemists and quotes the figures 99 per cent with no insulin and 20 units a day or less for the other one per cent.

"These statements," he says, "do not coincide with the experience of diabetic specialists or internists. Furthermore, his remarks, published in the press, have caused considerable alarm and misunderstanding to many patients. The term "insulin poisoning" is a rather far-fetched dramatic term."

American Doctor Leads Egyptian Anti-VD Drive

CAIRO, Oct. 25 (AP)—With an American doctor at the helm, Egypt is starting an all-out campaign against venerel disease.

Dr. Mortimer Falk, Philadelphia, Pa., World Health Organization consultant, came here in August to study the VD problem at request of the Egyptian delegate at the first meeting of the WHO regional committee for the Eastern Mediterranean.

Dr. Falk chose the city of Tantah, in the heart of the fertile Nile delta, for his first headquarters. Tantah is a city of 140,000 population. Its region includes the industrial centers of Mehalla. Dr. Falk's choice of Tantah gives him an opportunity to work toward VD control among both industrial and rural population groups.

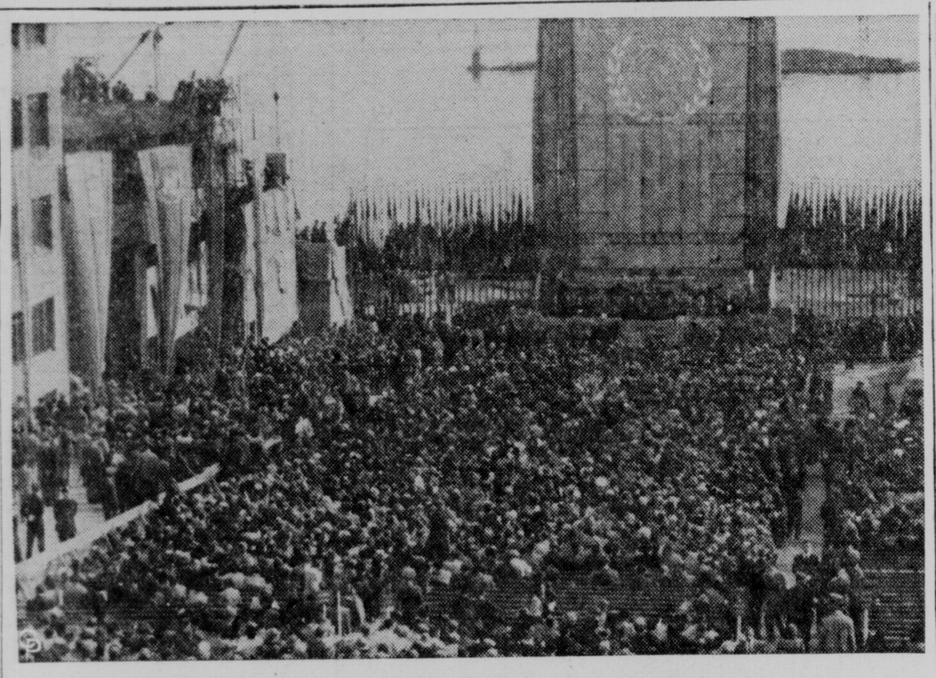

The frist step of the anti-VD campaign will be the establishment of a VD control demonstration center in the city itself. Tantah has a hospital with special accommodation for VD patients. The prevalence of VD in the area is indicated by the fact that in a recent survey of about 1,000 pregnant women, 10 per cent of blood tests turned out to be positive.

Dr. Falk plans to form a team composed of skilled VD control officer, an Egyptian VD expert, a VD serologist, a public health nurse, a public health educator, a statistician and a technical assistant. All are to be appointed by WHO.

The Egyptian government will contribute equipment, accommodation, transport and all other facilities needed for the demonstration team to carry out its work.

The demonstration at Tantah is planned for two years. Simultaneously a training and teaching program is to be developed at Kasr El Aini, Cairo. This is Egypt's main hospital and research center. This program, dealing with VD control methods, is scheduled to last five to six months. It will comprise 300 blood tests daily, at laboratories to be equipped by WHO. Furthermore WHO will supply 30,000 million units of penicilin for treatment.

Meanwhile, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund will be asked to help combat syphilis in the maternal and child health field. Further supplies of penicilin will be made available as required.

LaVale Chapel Sells Alleys

LaVale Baptist Chapel sold two of the four Allegany Grove Bowling Alleys to the Romney, W. Va., Moose Lodge Monday in another development to convert the former bowling site into a church edifice.

It is planned to sell the other alleys, also. Money derived from the sale will be used to improve the interior of the building which was acquired by the congregation last January 1.

The congregation was formed in April, 1947 and met at the home of the pastor, Rev. J. C. Ledbetter, until the increase in membership made the acquisition of larger quarters necessary.

Egyptian Parties Gird For Stormy General Election

CAIRO, Oct. 25—(AP)—Egypt soon will have what most observers expect to be the stormiest general election in its brief parliamentary life.

The date is still uncertain. The elections, for members of Parliament, are scheduled tentatively for November. There is some reason to believe they may be postponed, perhaps to January at the latest.

Present signs indicate that the coming election will be the freest in Egyptian history. A neutral cabinet, containing elements of all major parties, will supervise it—unless Egypt's mercurial politics result in a major turnover first.

Premier Hussein Sirry Pasha, an independent, has reserved the Ministry of Interior post for himself and pledged neutrality and "freedom for all" in the elections.

Five million cards have been printed for distribution to the qualified electorate of this country of 19,000,000, the first concrete evidence the election is not far distant. Women have no vote.

Factors which may have a decisive bearing in the results are who the candidates will be and how the constituencies will be distributed. Politics in Egypt is basically dependent on personalities and not platforms.

The Wafd Party is commonly believed to hold a predominant position, but its strongest opponents, the Saadists and Liberal Constitutionalists, contest this. However, they have asked that 60 parliamentary seats be "reserved" for each, indicating neither is too confident of their electoral future.

The Wafd has said that "in compliance with King Farouk's wish" it will reserve 15 seats for the two parties.

Public opinion generally seems to favor preservation of a coalition government. The Egyptian people apparently believe this is one way of settling once and for all the difficulties with Britain over the maintenance of British troops in the Suez Canal zone and the future of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Egyptians almost universally want British troops out of the country and oppose what they consider the British-controlled Sudan administration.

Efforts still are being made to reconcile the three parties to continue the coalition. All evidence indicates the Wafd will fight bitterly for a dominant majority. The Saadists and Liberals, fighting to maintain a strong position, may be able to force the Wafd to accept a coalition with help from splinter parties.

When Truman Talks About "Selfish Interests"

A little more than three weeks ago, Phil Murray, CIO chief, called out 450,000 steel workers in twenty-seven states in support of his demand that the companies foot the entire cost of insurance and pensions for the workers—this although the government's own security program requires that they pay a part of the cost, and all of them are now paying. Though the demand is against public policy and actuarial sanity, the men are still on strike.

John L. Lewis has called out about the same number of miners. What all he is after only he knows. He mentions a 30-cent royalty on every ton of coal, for the miners' fund, which was beginning to run dry before he had them quit doing a full week's work, and then had them quit doing any work at all. Yet he vainly proposed to President William Green of the American Federation of Labor that they jointly put up a $2,500,000-a-week war fund to back the steel workers.

The situation is aggravated by the fact that President Truman feels himself politically beholden to Murray, instead of to his fellow-countrymen; aggravated also by his perverse refusal to avail of the law of the land.

So there you have it. More than a million strikers—aluminum workers included—are out, and an estimated $67,000,000 in their lost wages is going down the drain every week. Workers in other industries, dependent on coal and steel, are being laid off by the tens of thousands. Unless there are quick settlements, it is predicted that the unemployed will soon number 5,000,000, a total the automobile industry might multiply. Both the immediate and the permanent interests of union members are being impaired by irresponsible leaders?

When Mr. Truman talks about "selfish interests," of course he means somebody else. But the actual selfish interests are his own, and those of two labor politicians who act as if they were running the country. Maybe they are, into an economic stalemate—to be known ever after as the Lewis-Murray depression.

India's Prime Minister Nehru Discovers America

The visit of the distinguished and intelligent Prime Minister of India naturally raises the question: "Is the greatest democracy of Asia ready to join the Western democracies against the world menace of Russo-Communism?" "Nehru's statement to Congress was neither affirmation nor flat denial. India, he said, "cannot and shall not be neutral" in the face of world aggression. But he went on to confirm his government's passionate dedication to Gandhi's ideal of peace.

The new India has two ruling aims—to preserve its independence at all costs and to keep out of war. Nehru himself has publicly rejected the idea of an alliance with either East or West. India is, and proposes to remain, neutral unless she herself is directly threatened. He made this quite clear in his talk Monday night in New York.

Yet, in the nature of things, this nation of 350,000,000 people in the heart of Asia cannot ignore the cold war. And her own grave problems rule out Asiatic isolationism. Her basic needs are food and more machinery. The fact that the United States has huge surpluses of grain and is now the world capital of industry, banking and technical skill undoubtedly helps to explain Nehru's "discovery" of America, a country which this far-traveling salesman has never before visited.

Under the pressure of her own needs and growing world tension, India under Nehru has been moving steadily toward Britain and the United States. The Indian Communist Party may be small, though violent, and the Himalayas may be the greatest land barrier on earth. But the Red drive in Asia has not escaped the attention of this shrewd man. As for the western powers, now that free China is gone India is the main Asiatic rampart against Soviet expansion. Nehru's visit may be taken as a symbol of friendship based on mutual need.

The Sentences Given Eleven Communists

Five-year prison terms and $10,000 fines may seem surprisingly light punishment for eleven Communist leaders who were found guilty of planning and advocating the violent overthrow of the United States government. But that is the maximum sentence permitted by a 1948 revision of the Smith Act, under which all eleven defendants were convicted. In any event, in a democracy certainty is more important than severity of punishment.

The law's delay is by no means ended, however. The New York trial lasted nine months. Nearly a year may pass before the Supreme Court finally pronounces upon the last appeal. But the public is confident that the eleven were convicted in a fair trial, presided over by the calm, astute and wonderfully patient Judge Medina.

One word more need be said—about the typical propaganda blast from one of the prisoners. Negro Benjamin J. Davis, Jr., charged that sending them to prison would be a blow to all American Negroes. The same propaganda line got Davis elected to New York City's Council and will make headlines in the controlled Russian press. The best answer to it is the fact that the foreman of the jury who pronounced the guilty verdict on Davis and the other ten was an American Negro woman.

Grandiose Gestures Toward Economy

There are two ways of practicing economy. One is to cut expenses and save money. The other is the government way.

How that second way works was described by a columnist the other day. The Hoover Commission on government reorganization recommended consolidation of all federal buying and selling agencies in one unit, in order to cut down personnel and promote efficiency. As a result the General Services Administration was set up to do just that.

But what happened? The first listing of personnel for the General Service Administration shows that the new bureau hired 140 more employes than formerly worked for all the eight agencies which it absorbed. It's the same old story of making grandiose gestures toward saving the taxpayers' money but never actually doing it. You can't win.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

How We Love to Eat

AMERICANS are not an obese race but there is no doubt that we have our quota of portly citizens. As a nation, we love good food which is consumed in excess of bodily requirements. Eating too much can become a habit just as difficult to control as the smoking or drug habits.

We take nourishment because of hunger, appetite, or both. Hunger is a natural phenomenon or reflex, which occurs when the body lacks food. The contractions of an empty stomach create an unpleasant sensation which only the word "hunger" seems to describe. Appetite, on the other hand, is a desire to eat and is dependent upon learning and conditioning. The lady who craves Chocolate has a specific appetite which may be all that is needed to keep her weight above the ideal.

Most fleshy persons would like to believe that something other than food is responsible for their surplus. The glands frequently incriminated, as well as heredity. The endocrine glands may have something to do with weight distribution but in general the problem still goes back to the caloric intake.

Dr. Margaret M. Kunde, for example, treated 50 corpulent individuals who had the bondy configurations of so-called endocrine obsity. They were placed on a low-fat carbohydrate diet without receiving glandular extracts. All dropped in weight, some as much as 117 pounds. Dr. Kunde did not include subjects whose metabolism was minus due to a decreased production of thyroid substance. These individual may lose weight if thyroid extract is administered but in most instances, the reduction follows the excretion of accumulated water rather than the burning of fat.

Woman who gain during the menopausal period are prone to excuse themselves on the basis that this always happens during the change of life. They neglect to consider that at their age, reduced physical activity is common and furthermore, that eating becomes more of a pleasure than the possession of a trim figure. In others, nervous factors enter the picture, especially frustration, which some counteract by resorting to the feedbag.

There also are a group of women who gained more than the allotted 25 pounds with each pregnacy and who were unable to shed the excess baggage after their babies were delivered. In some instances the pounds mounted with each successive pregnacy and, by the age of 40, these women find themselves almost incapacitated. What is more they have kept the appetite acquired while pregnant. In addition, their large bulk demands more than the average amount of fuel and, if not supplied, hunger ensues. This phase of obesity has received too little attention. Big people need food to maintain the feeling of well being.

• — • — •

These are but a few of the reasons why adults develop abnormal eating habits. Others overeat as an outlet for emotional distress, worry, and anxiety. This reaction works both ways, however, as some persons lose appetite when emotionally upset. Nibbling can result from boredom, overstimulation, and excitement. The houseewife may not be hungry but munches all day long in a manner similar to the youngster who devours popcorn while at the movies or watching a ball game. The more excited he becomes the faster he gulps.

TOMORROW: A problem that is always with us. The Common Cold.

SPOILED CHILD

M. C. writes: Does temper in a child mean just being naughty or could it be due to a cross-eye that developed after a bout of chicken pox? I have a 6 year old niece whom we all spoil because she lost her father in the war. She runs off in a tantrum or kicks, bites, and hits anyone who comes near her. Spanking makes her worse.

REPLY

I doubt if the eye condition is playing a role. Most behavior problems represent rebellion on the part of the child against his upbringing. Such youngsters have not been allowed to develop at their own rate of speed. Others have not been loved enough nor given the impression that they are really wanted. In your niece's case, perhaps she has had too many "bosses" and has found that she can play one against the other.

THYROID DISORDER

L. K. writes: I have thyroid trouble which the doctor calls "plumber's disease." Can you tell me anything about it?

REPLY

You probably refer to Plummer's disease. In this form of thyroid trouble (adenomatous goiter), nodular growths have been present for some time without causing symptoms. Suddenly, the gland becomes toxic and symptoms appear.

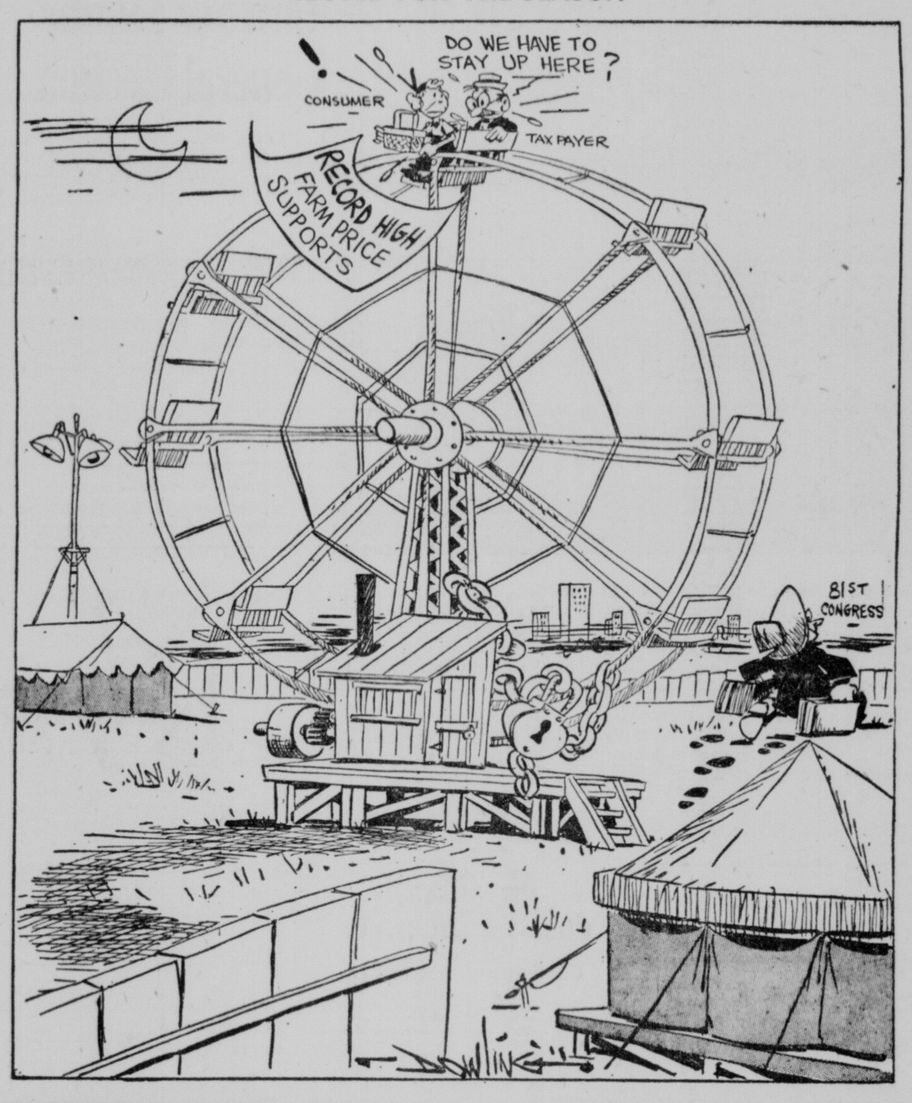

FLUIDS IN PROSTATE TROUBLE

S. C. L. writes: In prostate trouble, is it good to drink plenty of water and refuse alcoholic drinks? How about coffee?

REPLY

You are correct about water and alcohol but there is no reason why coffee cannot be taken in moderation.

Internal Revenue Needs Better Income-Tax Enforcement; Many Big Tax-Fraud Cases Are Delayed Or Sidetracked; Virginia Asphalt Kings' Case Example

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—President Truman's warning that there must be a tax increase recalls the fact that Bureau of Internal Revenue experts estimate they could collect close to a billion dollars more annually without increasing taxes—if they had better income-tax enforcement.

Two years ago the 80th Congress chopped off a huge army of income-tax examiners, a group of hard-working, underpaid public servants who have the unpleasant but necessary job of checking on people's income taxes. While part of this cut personnel has been reinstated, the tax examiners are still woefully understaffed and able to inspect only a fraction of the returns.

On top of this has developed another tax-payment deterrent — namely, delays and wire-pulling in the prosecution of tax frauds.

When the average taxpayer sees certain big shots getting away with spectacular tax violations, naturally he figures he is entitled to do the same.

This is not the fault of the Treasury tax examiners nor the prosecution officers of the Justice Department, most of whom are diligent public servants.

But when tax frauds are sent to U. S. District Attorneys for criminal prosecution, interminable delays sometimes develop. Some district attorneys just do not want to prosecute. Sometimes local politics are involved, and since U. S. District Attorneys are appointed under a political spoils system on the recommendation of local Senators and Congressmen, they are sometimes more inclined to take orders from Congressmen rather than from the Justice Department.

Delayed Cases

But whatever the reasons, here are some tax-fraud cases which have been delayed or sidetracked between the Justice Department and the district attorneys in the field. In some cases no politics may be involved; but in any case the effect on the rest of the tax-paying public is bad.

Just outside Washington, D. C., the T-men found that the sheriff of Prince Georges county, Md., Earl Sheriff, had collected about $49,000 from gamblers during four years though he reported a total income of only $8,400. But when the Justice Department sent this case to U. S. Attorney Bernard Flynn in Baltimore, he sent it back with advice that it was a difficult case to prosecute.

Again out in Kansas City, Kansas, the T-men caught an eminent doctor, Herbert Hessler, failing to report as income 1,000 fees received from patients during three years. The Justice Department sent the case to U. S. Attorney Lester Luther in Topeka for criminal prosecution, but Luther wrote back that he did not want to prosecute, because Dr. Hessler was too prominent in the community. The Justice Department instructed him to proceed anyway, however, and he is now doing so.

Patenotres Indicted

Another significant case, reported in this column as early as 1943, was that of Mrs. Eleanor Patenotre and her son over concealed profits made from the sale of the Philadelphia Inquirer, whereby the Patenotres paid a tax of only $1,567 in 1930 when they should have paid around $200,000. Thanks to the diligence of one or two treasury agents and a series of exposes by this column, the Patenotres were finally indicted in August 1948.

However, the significant fact is that the Justice Department had all its information available in 1945, and that Raymond Patenotre was in this country from 1945 on. Yet thanks to Patenotre's ability to hire one of the shrewdest tax attorneys in Washington, Ellsworth Alvord, no indictment was brought until 1948. Meanwhile there were libel threats against this column.

Even after the indictment, however, another year dragged by, with much legal haggling over a compromise. Finally it was arranged that Madame Patenotre would plead guilty and pay a $2,000,000 cash settlement if she didn't have to go to jail.

West Virginia Gambler

Another interesting tax-fraud case was that of Bill Lias, well-known Wheeling, W. Va., gambler who originally pleaded guilty to cheating the government out of nearly $1,000,000. After he entered his guilty plea, however, a considerate judge allowed Lias to withdraw his plea and face a jury.

At the subsequent trial, U. S. Attorney Lee Spillers not only bungled the case, but was put in an extremely bad light when it was disclosed that he had once received a large political contribution from Lias. Incidentally, the Justice Department had wanted to try the case with a special prosecutor, but Spillers insisted on handling it himself.

In the end, Lias was acquitted, even though he once had pleaded guilty.

Latest tax fraud case which has come to the attention of this column is that of W. J. Hardy and F. McKenzie Davison, the Arlington, Va., asphalt kings who were recommended for criminal prosecution by the Justice Department last July. This decision to prosecute came only after one year's delay, and various discussions with attorneys which included one conference with Senator Byrd, plus talks with other Virginia politicians.

Four months have now passed since the Justice Department's recommendation for criminal prosecution reached U. S. Attorney George Humrickhouse at Richmond, and no prosecution has begun. However, when this column recently raised a question as to the reasons for the delay, Senator Byrd issued the following statement:

"Drew Pearson has by false statement attempted to involve me in a tax-fraud case. He is a master of the technique of smearing public men by lying inneundo . . ." After denying that he had intervened on behalf of Hardy and Davidson, Byrd continued:

"Pearson has made other charges against me and too frequently has made me a target of insidious inneundos. But I do not intend to have him maliciously create in the public mind the impression that I am involved in a tax-fraud case.

"If Pearson does not adequately correct these lies, insinuations and inneuendos, I intend to sue him for libel."

This columnist has believed that, no matter what else might be said about him, Senator Byrd has always stood for honesty in government. Therefore a statement from the Senator that he has intervened with the U. S. Attorney to hasten prosecution, rather than a negative statement that he has not intervened on behalf of the tax violators would be much more welcome from him.

A mere neutral attitude regarding tax collection and tax evasion is not enough if we are to avoid higher taxes next year.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Shotgun Wedding

WASHINGTON.

IT is difficult to convey the momentous importance of Paul Hoffman's current mission to Europe, to promote European economic union. Perhaps the best way to put it is to say that this is the turning point of the American attempt to put the European economy on a self-supporing basis.

Making our allies self-supporting was, of course, the objective of the European Recovery Program from the beginning. In the first phase, however, Marshall aid was used simply and directly, to rebuild Europe's war - shattered productivity. This job is over. By the end of the year, European industrial and agricultural output will be on a level with output in 1938.

Precisely this dramatic achievement is what makes the second phase both possible and necessary. Mere restoration of productivity has failed to restore economic stability in France and Italy, the Low Countries and the other Marshall Plan nations. The trouble is that intra-European trade is still being strangled by exchange restrictions, import quotas, tariffs, and other devices of the period of scarcity. What must now be done is to secure the abandonment of these outworn protective devices. And this is the purpose of the European economic union which Hoffman will now attempt to promote. The ultimate aim is one great European trading area.

Impetus Towards Union

It must be said at once that the impetus towards union has not come only from Washington. The idea has long had strong backing among Europeans. Some time ago French Finance Minister Maurice Petsche quietly inaugurated serious discussions of the project with the Italians, the Belgians, the Dutch and the E.C.A. European staff.

The greatest practical obstacle to European union, which was the false relationship between the European currencies, has also been cleared away in recent months. The British sterling devaluation forced the Europeans to place their own currencies on a realistic basis. Thus, although theoretically controlled in varying degree, the franc, the lira and the other moneys of Europe are already, in practice, not far from being mutually convertible.

Both these hopeful developments initially generated considerable bad feeling. The British were furious that they had not been brought in to the talks started by Maurice Petsche. The French and other Europeans were equally anraged by the drastic character of sterling devaluation, which Petsche went so far as to call "economic warfare." Tempers have now subsided, however. When Hoffman meets in Paris next week with Sir Stafford Cripps, Signor Pella and the other European finance ministers, the situation will lend itself to constructive steps.

Hoffman himself has rather carefully laid the groundwork for bold action, long in advance of this annual meeting of finance ministers. Specifically both he and Averell Harriman have long been taking every opportunity to impress on officials of the Marshall aid countries that they would have to have "something to show for their money," in order to get next year's European recovery appropriations out of Congress.

String Kept On Aid

Perhaps more important still, when the current year's Marshall aid appropriations were recently divided in Paris, Hoffman and Harriman only approved the division for the first six months. The balance, of $1.8 billions for the second six months, can still be re-allocated at will. This means that non-cooperators can be made to suffer greatly.

In effect, this power to change the division of the current year's Marshall aid, plus the danger in Congress, constitute Hoffman's shotgun. The shotgun will be used, if necessary, to encourage the already affectionate Europeans to legalize their economic union. Hoffman regards the situation as sufficiently urgent to employ his shotgun if he has to.

On the other hand, no visionary plan, merging all the nations of Europe and the sterling area into

Curious How Russia's Long Hand Reaches Into Strikes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—When President Truman, at a private dinner here the other night, told 200 business men that he didn't see much sense to the coal and steel strikes, he was expressing the opinion, too, of persons in all walks of life.

But when the President advised employers to sit down and work out solutions of their problems with their employees, he was not discussing present-day labor-management relations. For no employer today in the large industries may sit down to talk things over with his own employees. He sits down only with a professional group of representatives who do not themselves work for any employer. That has been the law of the land ever since the Wagner Act was passed.

With industry-wide bargaining, as it is practiced today in the steel industry for example, one union calls a strike affecting many employers. Negotiations are carried on with one of the large companies first and, if there is a disagreement there, the strike is called in many other companies.

Collective Bargaining Dead Letter

Thus collective bargaining is a dead letter in the steel industry so far as a large number of companies are concerned. They must await the outcome of negotiations between the U. S. Steel Corporation and the steelworkers' union.

One big union dominates the coal-mining industry. Here the employers are grouped by geographical sections but the chief of the miners' union insists on industry-wide arrangements.

Employers are forbidden to make agreements with each other with respect to the amount of production they will furnish the country and thus affect the price by means of artificial scarcity. But the miners' union regulates at will the amount of production that may be done.

The employers in the coal industry cannot sit down with their own employees, as the President suggested, because collective bargaining, as established under the Wagner Act and confirmed under the Taft-Hartley Act, requires the employer to deal only with the union officers or spokesmen. There is no way by which an employer can negotiate directly with his own employees without being subjected to charges of an "unfair labor practice" and a possible court injunction ordering him to cease such a practice.

Also, under the present law, there is an obligation upon both parties to bargain in good faith. In the coal negotiations recently, the employer group reported that for several weeks it was unable to learn what the demands were. Also the principals representing the miners stayed away from the negotiations for long periods of time or participated in them in such a way as to preserve only the fiction that meetings were taking place. There has been little bargaining.

What it all means is that when either side makes up its mind that an agreement is not possible, economic power is relied upon to bring concessions from one side or the other.

As matters stand today in the steel strike, a settlement there will be of little value unless coal is available with which to start the steel mills going again at full capacity. So, until progress toward a settlement of the coal controversy is made, the negotiations on the steel front will be listless.

Pressure On Administration

The country, however, cannot afford a tie-up such as would ensue if both coal and steel strikes last several weeks more. The pressure on the Administration to do something is growing. What that "something" can be is not clear as yet.

The provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act might be invoked to require the coal miners to return to work while a governmental fact-finding board seeks to resolve the issues. If this happens, it is likely that negotiations to settle the steel strike would be accelerated.

In the case of steel, the differences between the parties are really not insurmountable. But until Philip Murray, head of the steelworkers, gets through with his battle with the Communist wing at the CIO convention next week, it is not probably that any negotiations in earnest to settle the strike will be begun. All the efforts of mediators to date have been fruitless because of the CIO convention problems. It is curious how the long hand of Russia reaches into America's industrial situation and complicates it.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Disarmament

THE impractical proposal of universal disarmament is constantly being propelled in the United Nations by Soviet Russia. It is a one-sided proposition, for whereas the United States would abide by any agreement and hold herself open to inspection, Soviet Russia rejects inspection. From a certain standpoint, Soviet Russia is right because it has been traditional to accept the good faith of a sovereign state, but it has not been experienced that the good faith of Soviet Russia can be accepted. She has with regularity broken her treaty pledges, by a conscious and obvious misconstrucbeen willing to provide adequate

Usually Russian proposals with regard to disarmament are aimed toward the elimination of the American stockpile of atom bombs. The Baruch Plan on this score required inspection and international control, which the Russians rejected.

At no time have the Russians been willing to provide adequate data on their military establishment, although ours is so much public property that the Navy and the Air Force are fighting the next war in the newspapers.

As an example of Russia's dilatory tactis, as far back as November 1946, Mr. Noel-Baker on behalf of Great Britain proposed that all members of the United Nations should report their troops and bases abroad and their troops in the regular armies, etc. Molotov had asked for limited data; Noel-Baker proposed that all the data be made available. This Molotov rejected. He refused figures as to the home forces and rejected that verifications on the spot be made.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, in that discussion, raised this question:

". . . Why M. Molotov had argued that the inclusion of home forces would distract attention from forces abroad; was it because Russia's home army was so large that the figures would shock the world? . . ." He might have asked whether the military and political police who are as much a military establishment as Hitler's S. S. would be included.

In the 1947 meeting of the General Assembly, Hector McNeill made this very interesting point:

"There can be no systematic disarmament without a real basis in collective security. But as long as there is mystery and exclusion, then there is the probability of mistrust."

In 1948, it was proposed:

(1) All States must belong to the disarmament system. (2) Disarmament could take effect only in an atmosphere of confidence. (3) Such confidence would require the creation of the United Nations forces envisaged in the Charter, the effective control of atomic energy, and peace treaties with Germany and Japan. (4) Arms must be limited to those indispensable to security. (5) There must be safeguards capable of detecting violations, and yet causing the minimum interference in the nations' lives. (6) Enforcement action against violators must be provided for.

As before, the two Soviet representatives voted against this resolution.

However, at the same session, Soviet Russia proposed that all countries reduce their armaments by one-third. But all resolutions to get at the facts were opposed by the Russians, so that the question might rightly be asked: One-third of what? The phrase, one-third, was thrown out without the slightest statistical evidence or connotation. This has been the Russian method, exasperating and confusing all other countries.

In July, 1949, Mr. Manuilsky of the Ukraine denounced a French disarmament plan. Summarized, he said: No State conscious of its national dignity could allow foreigners to investigate its military archives. Those who were pressing for complete information on conventional armaments insisted on withholding all information about the atom bomb. Mr. Nash (U.S.A.) said that Soviet opposition to any plan aimed at restoring international confidence was based on their desire to conceal the extent of their rearmament.

France took up the fight for a worldwide census of non-atomic weapons and armed forces. Soviet Russia opposed that but her representatives continue to make speeches about disarmament and peace. And her agents in this country do the same.

The point is that every effort toward gathering accurate data concerning conventional arms or the size of armies, toward disarmament, toward control and inspection has steadily been opposed by Soviet Russia. Yet that country all the time calls the United States a warmonger.

Commissioners Split On State Road Meeting

Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Holmes yesterday disagreed with a statement by Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, that only Board Attorney Gorman Getty should meet with the State Roads Commission in Baltimore to discuss the federal aid roads program for the Mill Run Road.

In reference to hard-surfacing the road, Wilkinson added, "It is not practical and too costly."

However, Commissioners Lemmert and Holmes said they felt "it was the duty of the full board to meet with the State Roads Commission in cases when the county roads are concerned."

Attorney Getty informed the board that all rights-of-way have been obtained on the Mill Run Road project.

The Board of Commissioners accepted recommendations of John J. Myers, assistant fire investigator of the Maryland Insurance Department, for fire protection measures at Sylvan Retreat, Allegany County Infirmary and Allegany County Home.

Meyers informed the board by letter yesterday of an inspection he made recently at the request of Herbert G. Fritz, chief of the Division of Hospitals of the State Department of Health.

After the various recommendations are carried out by the county, the State Health Department will issue a license for the three institutions.

Members of the board said similar recommendations by the City of Cumberland Fire Department were accepted by the county board in June but that estimates of cost in laying a new water line to the county farm property from Furnace Street have not yet been received from the city.

Among the recommendations made for the institutions were the repairing of metal fire escapes, sealing up of an unused cellar entrance, insulation of the county home furnace room, and placing of fire extinguishers in the kitchen.

Placing of fire extinguishers in the modern semi-fireproof Allegany County Infirmary on walls or shelves along the walls is suggested to avoid any of them being upset. Thye are on the floors of the various hallways.

An eight-inch water line from Furnace Street to provide adequate water with which to fight fires also was recommended. An outside standpipe at Sylvan Retreat was suggested. A four-inch line leading to three dead-end fire hydrants and laid about 50 years ago should be replaced by a new six-inch line.

An order was passed to have the first and third floor elavator doors at the Court House repaired. A representative of an elevator company said the doors are coming loose from wall supports.

Mrs. Ellen Wilson Heads W. Md. Branch Presbyterial

Conditions In China Given By Missionary

The fall meeting of the Western Maryland Branch of the Baltimore Presbyterial was held yesterday in First Presbyterian Church here, at which time Mrs. Ellen Wilson, Barton, was elected chairman. Other officers elected are Mrs. William Duckworth, Lonaconing, vice chairman; and Mrs. Lester R. Martin, city, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. B. W. Hosier presided and a request of the board of foreign missions for old trunks was made. It was explained that it is easier for the missionaries to get their belongings through customs if they are in trunks than boxes. Reports of the different churches were made and Miss Ann Goshorn, Lonaconing, reported on the fall Presbyterial meeting held in Baltimore; Mrs. Martin, on the leadership institute held last month in Baltimore, and Mrs. P. G. Ervin, on displaced persons. Mrs. William A. Eisenberger conducted the devotionals, using as her topic "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Frederick Haas gave the address of welcome.

Although the Communists have a stronghold in China, they have not disturbed the Christian schools or hospitals because they can be used for their advantage, Mrs. W. Plumer Mills, New York, told the group in speaking on "Christian Work in China." Mrs. Mills, who worked in China for 30 years and since returning to the states has for the past six and one-half years been secretary for Women's Work for the United Board of Christian Colleges in China, now is connected with the Department of Literature and Publications for the Presbyterian Board.

The speaker also explained that she thought the reason the Communists have such a stronghold is that the Chinese did not like the leadership of the Nationalists, and were so tired of war that they were willing to try anything, especially the many promises made by the Russians.

She also reported that the Communists do not want anyone who does not produce and so the missionaries must do other work during the week and hold their Christian education of the people on Sundays. She also pointed out that a lot of the Christian ideas have to be transferred to the Chinese by the Chinese Christians.

Approximately 100 attended the meeting.

RAINCOATS FOR EVERY TASTE OR USE HELP BEAT THE PROBLEMS OF KEEPING DRY AND STAYING PRETTY

If you want your face to look as though it belongs to you, never use cosmetics that give a "mask-like" look!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

YOU HAVE SEEN the woman whose face is so made up that it looks like a mask. She seems to have destroyed her naturalness. Her mistaken efforts have superimposed artificially not only on her face — but her whole personality: The color of her face and neck seem to differ . . . in contrast with each other. And all because she has not considered carefully matching her own coloring when selecting cosmetics. And, in addition to careful selection, used expert care in applying them to her neck as well as her face.

It's Up To You!

Modern cosmetics are formulated by experienced chemists and color experts to draw out and enhance your natural beauty. They do this very efficiently, but the rest is up to you. The selection and application is in your hands.

You cannot apply cosmetics and achieve the desired, natural effect unless your foundation is chosen correctly. It's no accident that the phrase powder base has been discarded in favor of the world foundation . . . that is literally what it is.

Never try to select your foundation while you are wearing make-up. Its color will influence your selection. Remove all your cosmetics; sit in a strong light and study your skin tones carefully.

Your "Two-Tone Skin"

If you look closely, you will find (perhaps to your surprise) that you have not one but two skin tones. The outer, overlying tone is familiar to you as dark, medium, light or bronze, olive cream, peach, ivory or fair. The inner, underlying tone may not be known to you at all, but it's there . . . and if you look hard, you'll discover it is pink, blue or ochre.

The combination of both tones determines your coloring. When your foundation contains the pigments that match and blend both these tones, you can be sure you've found the one that will do the most for you.

You can experiment and find the correct foundation yourself, or seek the advice of the experts at your favorite cosmetic counter, but do one or the other right away if you have been guilty of wearing a "false face"! Only then can cosmetics enhance your beauty!

The famous figure "Five Per Cent" certainly made a lasting impression on the senators. That was just the amount they recently "tipped" themselves . . . A five per cent increase for office expenses.

Nevertheless, members of their office staffs won't necessarily be the ones to benefit . . . Since no strings are attached, each senator can use the extra cash as he sees fit. And some of them are seeing fit to increase their own income exclusively.

Some senators ignore the "little people" in their offices . . . The faithful workers from back home who slave so loyally, answering phones, writing letters, speeches and assembling research . . . In fact, making the voters think the seator really ticks.

One of the greatest diplomatic acrobats, Raoul Aglion, juggles the Balkan ball for the United Nations. . . . He has to keep all sides happy and watch whether outside influences, which shall be nameless (for the next five words one, (two, three, four, five—Soviets), are interfering in the Greek squabble.

Mr. Aglion, one-time minister-counsellor here in the French embassy, admits that between U. N. officials even party conversations are worse than walking on a tightrope carrying two baskets of eggs and juggling a glass of water on your head . . . A meeting between two professional neutrals runs something like this:

"Good afternoon, Mr. Minister. Nice day today."

"Yes, lots of sunshine."

"Oh, absolutely, and I think it will be even nicer tomorrow."

"Very much like weather in Paris, isn't it?"

"Tsk, tsk, tsw. (wagging a finger). Now we mustn't talk about politics."

Aglion also reports that in Paris, with the departure of American tourists, dresses are selling at 50 per cent off.

FROSTY NIGHTS AHEAD

Are You Prepared?

Sleep Under An Automatic Blanket

You who have never slept under an automatic blanket still have ahead of you the thrill of discovering true sleeping enjoyment. If that sounds like an exaggerated claim, don't take our word for it. Talk to anyone who has used an automatic blanket. Few, if any, electrical appliances have ever aroused user enthusiasm to such an extent. Here's why!

JUST RIGHT WARMTH

Set your control and sleep under the same soothing warmth all night, regardless of temperature changes. No getting up for extra covers. The automatic control takes care of more or less heat as needed.

WARMTH WITHOUT WEIGHT

One lovely blanket does the work of many. No need to pile on extra covers when the temperature falls. Sleep warmly without the tiring weight of heavy covers, in spite of sudden temperature drops.

PRE-WARMED BED

Say goodbye to a cold and clammy bed. Switch your automatic blanket on a few minutes before you are ready to get in, then slip in and enjoy a bed that is warmly "just right."

CHOICE OF WASHABLE COLORS

Automatic blankets are available in a wide choice of beautiful colors and look like any fine blanket. They are washable too, in your washing machine of course. Just follow simple directions.

Literary Assist From "High Priest Of Atlantis" Claimed By Novelist

LONDON, Oct. 25 (INS)—Frances Dale, an English novelist, claims she has been getting a wonderful literary assist from the "high priest of the lost island of Atlantis" who insists on dictating to her in a "ghost voice."

The 43-year-old author told the London Daily Mail that because of this outside aid she has refused fees from her publisher, Andrew Dakers, for her latest book.

According to the Mail, Miss Dale had her first experience with the "ghost voice" one day while she was at work in her apartment.

She told the Mail the "voice" claimed to be that of Armartus, high priest of Atlantis, and warned of the "terrible dangers" threatening civilization.

Miss Dale, who has written nine books, was quoted by the newspaper as saying:

"I found myself taking the dictation but not understanding the text.

"The last 7,000 words were completed in 80 minutes. I have never read about Atlantis although I did listen to a radio play about it.

"Sometimes I sincerely wish he would choose someone else to do his typing as I am busy with my own material."

Miss Dale, said the Mail, also insisted she does not believe in spiritualism but at the same time is convinced she is "not responsible for the book."

Publisher Dakers had this to say about the strange case:

"Dale seems to be a calm and sensible person but she is convinced she has no claim to the book. I am amazed but after hearing her story I am convinced she sincerely believes what she is saying."

The Mail added that the author has reported that the "ghost voice" now has her busy on a second book.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

According to inside sources, President Truman has just confessed a secret. Many years ago he was an usher in a Kansas City vaudeville house.

You can tell. Everytime he catches two Republicans with their heads together he makes them break it up.

And during the last election his usher training made him sure he'd get in. While everybody else was taking polls he was counting the house.

Of course, when he was an usher, the theatres weren't air conditioned. In those days he didn't have any problems with the deep freeze.

But you could see as soon as President Truman was elected that he had an usher's background. The first thing he did was put in his own balcony

Naturally, this news has encouraged ushers all over the country. In fact, just yesterday Democratic headquarters received 25,000 flashlights with notes saying "we're available in 1952."

It's our family's whiskey, neighbor—and neighbor, it's your price!

There's mighty few that ever bit into a muffin as tasty as Ma Wilken bakes!

When we hand our neighbors an invite to stop by for supper, it's funny how fast they take us up on it, in the hopes they're going to have Ma Wilken's muffins! In this snap—"reading from left to right" as the newspapers say—it's Andy Kooser, a party named Cap, my brother in law Tom, me, my brother William and our dog Jessie. If you'd like the recipe for Ma's muffins and other wonderful old-fashioned dishes, just you get busy with that coupon down there!

Harry E. Wilken

If you've ever hauled a tin of piping hot muffins out of a lovely smelling oven—and busted one of those muffins open, and slapped a big hunk of fresh country butter onto it—then you know what I mean by tasty! And I want to tell you right here and now—you can get that heap of extra tastiness in your drinks every bit as much as in your eats.

I'm talking about the Personal Family's Whiskey of us Wilkens with some 60 odd years of distilling experience behind it. Folks claim for out and out tastiness it's got everything skinned a mile. Each and every bottle of it is put up according to the special rules of tastiness that Grandpa Wilken got up away back in the 1880's. And each batch has got every little last thing Pa Wilken picked up concerning tastiness in whiskey, during his lifetime of distilling.

So if you want to find out how much tastiness a family can pack into a bottle when they set their mind to it, just you buy yourself The Wilken Family Whiskey the very first spare moment that turns up. We've put a real neighborly price on it, so there's nothing in the world to stop you!

Conversation Piece

TODAY, I'd like to tell you about a talk I had with a doctor who is doing research work at at one of the New York cancer clinics. He made me promise not to use his name because he was afraid he might be blacklisted by the foundation which pays his salary.

I began by asking him to sketch in his pre-research career. "The usual ten - year grind," he said. "Four years of college, four more at medical school, a year as intern, and a year in residency training."

Billy Rose

"What made you go into research?"

"Like a lot of young doctors," he said, "I couldn't get used to sitting by while a patient died simply because I didn't know anything else I could do for him. Every time I looked up into the eyes of relatives gathered around the bed of a man in the last stages of cancer, I told myself that my job wasn't to go on using the hit-or-miss techniques but to get into a laboratory and help find the real cure."

• — • — •

"How did you go about getting started?"

"I made the usual applications," said the M.D., "but I soon found the hospitals and universities had no funds to hire research men, and that I couldn't get a job unless a foundation paid my salary. To complicate things, most foundations won't give you a fellowship unless you first have a job. In addition, it's almost impossible to get a grant until you've published a certain number of scientific papers and, of course, you can't publish such papers until you've worked in a laboratory and had a chance to do research worth writing about.

It finally boiled down to this—I could work for nothing in a cancer laboratory, or I could take a job paying $120 a week doing research for a cosmetic outfit. Well, I had just gotten married, and was ready to settle for the money, but my wife wouldn't hear of it—she went out and got an office job and made me stick to my test tubes."

"How long did you work for free?"

"About a year," said the doctor, "and then the head of the medical center—a very decent guy—squeezed me onto the payroll at $28.87 a week."

"You could have earned more washing dishes."

"We managed to get by," said the medico, "but the following year my wife had a baby and had to quit her job. After that, it was pretty rugged. As, for instance, we couldn't afford to buy a crib, and the youngster had to sleep in a donated baby carriage.

"Somehow, though, we bulled our way through, and by the end of the following year I had gotten a couple of research pieces published. With these to back me up, I applied for a fellowship paying $3,000 a year."

"Minus withholding tax, I presume."

"It may not sound like much, but I felt like John D., Jr. when the grant came through," said the doctor. "Last year, I went through the application rigamarole again—275 typed pages—and this time I got the full $3,600."

"What do you do to earn all that money?" I said.

"I'm in charge of three cancer projects and help on half a dozen others. On the side, I run a throat clinic, work in the wards and give seminars."

• — • — •

"Any chance of a raise?"

"I'm afraid not," said the doctor, "and, as far as fellowships are concerned, I'm getting near the end of the line. I'm 29 now, and the foundations don't like to make grants to men over 30."

"There's always the job in the industrial lab," I said.

"It may come to that," said the M.D., "but I hope not. No matter what it pays, I want to keep plugging away on cancer. It seems a lot more important than developing a new shade of face powder. . . ."

The day after our talk, I happened to pass the medical skyscraper in which the young doctor works, and I noticed that an additional wing was under construction. Dozens of steel workers, bricklayers, and carpenters—all averaging around a hundred a week—were getting in each other's way.

Over the half-finished entrance was a space which looked as if it might eventually be filled with a block of marble on which a fitting inscription would be carved.

"I know what it ought to be," I said to myself. "'Too much for bricks, too little for brains'."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Whitney Bolton discloses this bit of Hollywood lore:

"While toiling in the employe of David Selznick, I received an urgent memo from him one morning which read, 'Must have a new name for Phyllis Isley Walker by Monday.' I forgot all about it until I was driving my little boy to school, on my way to the studio, on Monday morning and he began singing a kid song which goes 'We've come to see Miss Jenny Jones, Miss Jenny Jones, Miss Jenny Jones . . .'

"That did it. I sent this memo to Mr. S.: 'After long hours of thought, I have evolved a provocative and memorable name. It combines an unusual first name with a plain second one. It it strange, off-beat, and not easily forgotten. Jennifer Jones! I feel so strongly about this I will not clutter up your time with further useless suggestions.' Need I add that Mr. Selznick agreed with me?"

"Hey, mom," said a kid on the crowded East Side, "can Willie and me each have an apple?" "I should say not," his mother replied. "You boys seem to think apples grow on trees!"

CIO'S Top Officials Plan Anti-Red Convention Move

By HAROLD W. WARD

CLEVELAND, Oct. 25 (AP) — The CIO's left and right wing factions got together today on at least one issue: They pledged full support to Philip Murray's 25-day-old steel strike.

The 51-member Executive Board, meeting to prepare for next week's free-swinging showdown between the leftist and anti-communist leaders in convention, adopted a unanimous resolution on the strike.

It pledged "full moral, organizational and financial support in this strike which the steel industry, on orders from Wall Street, has forced upon the steelworkers and the American people."

Walter Reuther, red-headed leader of the United Auto Workers and sometimes regarded as a possible successor to Murray, introduced the resolution at a three-hour session of the executive board.

Reuther was chosen chairman of the powerful resolutions committee for the convention, starting next Monday. That means he and Big Joe Curran, head of the National Maritime Union and Secretary of the Committee, will have a lot to say about what happens to pro communist forces in the CIO.

Reuther and Curran both have been successful in battling communist-sympathizers in the ranks of their important auto and sailors' unions.

One of the big fights certain to erupt on the convention floor involves the "ultimatum" of the United Electrical Workers. The demands were that unless Murray ousts the worst critics of UE's left-wing leadership and orders a stop to raiding of its ranks by right-wing unions, the UE will hold back its per capita tax to the CIO.

UE, the CIO's third largest union, holds contracts to represent about 600,000 workers in the radio, television and electrical manufacturing fields. It pays the eight-cent monthly per capita to the CIO on about 375,000 actual members, however. It is the largest and most influential of the unions under so-called left-wing leadership.

President Albert J. Fitzgerald and his top aides in running UE — Secretary-Treasurer Julius Emspak

Md. To Issue School Bonds

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP) — Maryland's Board of Public Works today voted to issue $9,390,000 in bonds to meet immediate needs for new school buildings.

About $1,500,000 of the money will be given to cities and counties. This is under the system of state grants by which Maryland puts up $1 for every $3 spent by local subdivisions on new schools.

The other $7,890,000 will be loaned to the counties and cities.

The 1949 session of the Maryland General Assembly authorized $20,000,000 worth of bonds for grants and $50,000,000 for loans.

The board of public works already has allocated $12,885,435 of the grant money and $17,789,368 in loans. The bond issue voted today would make the first actual cash available under these allocations.

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., State Superintendent of Schools, advised the board today that the local government will need that much money between now and next March 31.

Between then and next September 30, they will need $4,735,314 in grant money and $4,543,110 in loans.

The board decided to issue bonds at once to cover the first six-month period and authorize another issue later on for the second phase of the program.

GETS GOOD NEWS—Mrs. Maude Cushing Storick, 67, (left) who has served 26 years of a life sentence for the alleged poisoning of her first husband, Claud Cushing, received news from her attorney, Alean Clutts, that Michigan Governor G. Mennen Williams will sign her pardon.

Judge Awards Pretty Girl Fortune Instead Of $9,000

TOWSON, Md., Oct. 25 (AP) — A judge awarded a fortune today to a pretty young girl in place of the $9,000 a wealthy old real estate man promised her to call off their marriage.

Louise M. Hebditch, 19, gets her widow's third of the estate left by John C. Hebditch of Havre De Grace, Md. He was fond of passing out business cards that said "rated more than a million."

There is a dispute over how much the estate is worth. An inventory filed by the executors lists the assets at $50,000. The girl's suit alleges its at least $700,000.

"The story book failure of a December and May romance," Judge J. Howard Murray called it in Baltimore County Circuit Court.

Hebditch and the girl were married in January of 1948, when he was 71, she 18. Hebditch had been married twice before. He had grown children.

A few months later John and Louise agreed to separate. John would pay her $9,000.

But the next day John called Louise. Would she come over to the house? She did. Four months later, last January, they set out in his automobile for Florida. They stayed three nights together on the road, registering as man and wife.

Last March John Hebditch died. His children and the trustees of his estate argued that Louise was entitled only to the $9,000 Hebditch had promised her in the separation.

Stay Indoors If A-Bomb Is Dropped On Your Town

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 25 (AP) — What should you do if an atomic bomb hits your town?

The safest thing is to stay indoors, wherever you are, unless there is a specific reason for evacuation of the area. Turn on the radio if there is any current, and be ready to fight local fires and follow instructions.

This was the answer given today by Maj. Albert J. Bauer of the U. S. Army Surgeon General's Office, in a report before the 12th International Congress on Military Medicine and Pharmacy. He was aided in preparing the report by Capt. John R. Hogness, U. S. Army Medical Center. The report was based on a study of the explosions at Hiroshima, Nagasaki and Bikini.

To begin with, Bauer says, your chance against the atomic bomb is better than you might think.

If you are four miles or more from an explosion your chances of escaping death or injury are almost perfect.

From there on toward the center your chances drop off rapidly, though from a half mile to a mile and a half from the blast center the chance is about 50-50 that you will come out alive.

Within a half mile radius there will be almost complete destruction and fatalities will be very close to 100 per cent. Relief workers are advised to write you off as a "total loss" if you are in that area.

The report says preparation and organization beforehand is of the greatest importance in holding casualties to a minimum and re-establishing order. Education of the civilian population as to what to expect from an atomic bombardment and what to do is the fundamental step in organizing an atomic disaster plan.

In general, preparations are about the same as might be made against a conventional bombing.

In building shelters, the penetrating radiation and terrific blast effect should be kept in mind.

Straus, 3 More Die In Crash

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., Oct. 26 (AP) — A private plane exploded in the air tonight, killing Millionaire Horseman Henry L. Straus and three others.

The twin-engined beechcraft crashed to earth in a ball of fire, not far from the spot where 53 persons lost their lives on Memorial Day, 1947, when a large airliner plummeted into a woods.

Colds cause an average loss of 10 days' activity to each individual yearly.

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa.

PLAYED GOLF down here in the autumnal glory of Fred Waring's golf course the other day with a man for whom perhaps thousands of innocent convicts offer a nightly prayer.

He is Raymond Campbell Schindler, the famed private eye. Together with Erle Stanley Gardner, one of the all-time masters of cops-and-robbers literature; Clark Sellers, the greatest living handwriting authority (of Hauptmann case fame); Dr. Lemoyne Snyder, medico-criminologist, and William W. Harper, California physicist and criminal investigator. Ray helps motivate a unique organization known as "The Court of Last Resort."

The court's role in life is the springing of innocent men and women now serving long terms in the pens of the land.

"From everything we know and suspect, there must be several hundred men and women now serving for life, or most of life, for murders they didn't commit," Schindler, a remarkably industrious man, told us in one of his rare moments of relaxation.

"That may sound like a lot of innocently convicted persons," he went on. "But it's a fair figure, I'm sure. Matter of fact, there must be several thousand now up for murder, armed robbery, and other long-term raps, who are absolutely innocent. Our job is to find them, get the evidence needed to re-open the case, and free them."

• — • — •

The gentlemen in question, busy men with other jobs to attend to, now have a first class assistant named Tom Smith, former warden of the Washington state pen at Walla Walla and vice president of the Warden's Association.

With the backing of Argosy magazine, which has been picking up some of the expenses in connection with this fundamentally altruistic work, Smith now is traveling from coast to coast — in search of innocent men for "The Court of Last Resort" to defend.

It all began over a drink in Nassau, the Bahamas, during the Demarigny trial, where Schindler was retained by the wife of the accused and Gardner was covering for United States newspapers. The talk turned to the innocence of Demarigny and the ease with which he might be convicted.

Schindler remembered an old quote from Homer Cummings, having to do with the refusal of many police forces to allow any evidence that does not fit the pattern they hope to put upon a crime. The two men decided then and there that they'd try to do something about it.

They and their associates, working without personal gain, have sprung two men thus far and have another about to be released in a week. The first was an elderly gent named William Keys, who was released from San Quentin last November after serving six years of a 20-year sentence(he was 62) for the "murder" of a neighboring rancher near Riverside, Cal.

The second was Clarence Boggie, who had served 14 years of a life sentence for "murdering" a Spoke saloon keeper. He was pardoned last December 23, went back free, married, got back his old job as a logger, and died of a heart attack shortly afterwards. But he died with his name cleared.

• — • — •

The man about to be sprung is Louis Gross, who has served 16 years in the Michigan state prison at Jackson. The "Court of Last Resort" discovered, after months of tedious work, that he did not commit the murder for which he was charged, convicted and sentenced for life.

Schindler was telling me that mistakes are inevitable in the annals of jurisprudence. There are more than 200,000 Americans in prison today for major crimes against society.

A certain number were put away by overly ambitious prosecutors, blundering cops, scheming witnesses. Most of them were poor, were given inexperienced counsel, could never afford to corral the witnesses or hire the experts needed to acquit them.

The "court" digs up its innocents in a variety of ways. Gross was spotted by a rabbi; Boggie by an Episcopal chaplain. Curiously, the confirmed and 100 per cent guilty inmates are often of great help. They know when somebody is in with them who is innocent of the crime charged against him, and their testimony has often been helpful.

Schindler would like to see important changes made in the state laws concerning the defense of penniless, or needy, persons accused of major crimes. If, for instance, a major crime is committed on government property, the government will give the accused a wealth of help, legal and expert.

But most states give him nothing . . . And each year sees completely innocent men and women sent away to shocking servitude for crimes they could not and did not commit, simply because they lacked a friend of the nobility and perseverence of a Schindler . . . Gardner . . . Snyder . . . Harper and the others.

HIS HEAD BANDAGED, Harold Poola, 7, curls up in a chair at home in Detroit after a narrow escape from death. Standing beside him is his brother, Edward, 10, who was with him when they found a loaded revolver in a trash can. The older boy was examining the gun when it went off, the bullet grazing Harold's head. (International Soundphoto)

Legal Catch Defined

Story About "Bobby"

Buddy's First Visit

Harry Groves Resigns

By C. V. BURNS

The following letter was received late Monday night and was signed by "An Interested Spectator": . . . .

Sports Editor,

It was held by one side that a fly ball, if caught off the chest, was not a legal catch; their contention was that the ball must be caught by either or both hands to be a legal catch.

"The other side of the discussion, however, claimed that if a ball was caught, regardless of how, it was a legal catch. Could you give us the official ruling on this."

• — • — •

A fly ball may be caught off the chest and it's a legal catch provided the ball doesn't touch the ground.

The answer to this question is pretty well covered in "Spalding's Knotty Problems" as follows:

On a long fly the outfielder tries to get the ball but muffs it and it strikes him on the chest. He tries to get it but it falls to his lap, formed by his falling backwards on the ground to a sitting posture. He picks it out of his lap and holds the ball up for a decision. Umpire calls it a fair catch. Is he right?

Answer: Yes, if the ball did not touch the ground.

• — • — •

Rule 44, Section 2 states that:

"The batter is never out if a foul lodges between the catcher's chest protector and the body. Note that the ball must be caught and not "momentarily held."

Section 3 of the same rule says:

"The batsman is out if the ball be caught by a fielder before touching the ground; provided, it be not caught in a fielder's hat, cap, protector, pocket or other part of his uniform, or strike some other object other than a fielder before being caught, any of which would be an illegally caught ball."

• — • — •

The October issue of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Magazine carries an interesting story about Robert Allen Williams who is none other than "Bobby" Williams, classy quarterback of the Notre Dame's great football team.

The story should be of special interest here because Williams is a native of Cumberland and was born here January 2, 1930 while his dad, Harold Williams, now general freight agent in Baltimore, was the B. & O's division freight agent here. The Williams family move to Baltimore when "Bobby" was two years old.

"Bobby" is the product of Loyola High School, Baltimore, where he played football, baseball and basketball. In 1946 he was named All-American high school quarterback. He's a junior and during his sophomore year was understudy to Frank Tripuca.

• — • — •

We'll never forget Jeannette's first visit here. He was an ace of the Washington and Jefferson College quint that season and it was the first time we ever scored a game in which one team racked up nearly 100 points.

The Presidents registered 95 points in crushing Frostburg Teachers' College at the State Armory and Jeannette collected about 40 of the tallies.

• — • — •

Softball Note:

The distance between the pitcher's box and the plate next season will be increased from 43 to 45 feet, thus giving the batters a chance for more hits.

• — • — •

From Washington comes word that Phil Minke former Cumberlander, now director of the Merrick Boys' Club, has announced the resignation of Harry (Kid) Groves as boxing coach and the appointment of Lew Hanbury, former Golden Gloves champ, to succeed him.

Groves handled the Merrick boxers last week when they appeared in the Dapper Dan Club amateur show here.

Harry was a professional boxer at one time and he always remembered Cumberland because it was in a show here that he received the worst beating of his career at the hands of Joey La Gray, one of the great fighting machines developed during the early 1930s.

The Dapper Dan's initial boxing venture netted $119 for the Cumberland Police Boys' Club fund.

Pershing Mondorf, a product of the Frederick County League, where he starred for Emmittsburg, won 11 and lost 10 for Mobile in the Southern Association this year and is slated to go to the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League next season.

Frostburg Teachers Top Maryland Freshmen, 5-2

Babcock's Booters Score Second Win

Frostburg State Teachers' College moved into the .500 class yesterday by defeating the University of Maryland Freshmen soccer team at College Park by the score of 5-2.

The victory was the second of the season for Coach Kenneth Babcock's eleven against two losses and two tie contests.

The Little Terps took a 1-0 lead in the first quarter by G. Williams but the Mountain City team tied it up in the second period at one-all on Dave Lewis' goal and took a 2-1 lead at halftime after Al Williams scored.

Carnevali, inside left of Maryland, knotted the count at 2-2 early in the third stanza but Bob Wenner came through with what proved to be the deciding tally. Lewis and Roy Pepper scored in the final quarter to give Babcock's aggregation victory by the margin of three points.

Frostburg also holds a decision over Slippery Rock Teachers, played tie games with Towson (Md.) Teachers and the Penn State College Junior Varsity and lost to Lock Haven Teachers and Carnegie Tech.

Three more games remain on the Frostburg schedule, all away from home. Westminster College will be met Saturday at New Wilmington, Pa., Salisbury (Md.) Teachers on November 5 and the University of Virginia Varsity, November 12.

Yesterday's lineups:

Pos.	Frostburg (5)	Md. Frosh (2)
Goal	Frank	Krebs
RB	Pugh	Hildreth
LB	Sonnenberg	Moran
RHB	Kershner	Augensbaugh
CHB	Layman	McKenzie
LHB	Thomas	Derman
OR	Williams	Calimer
IR	Lewis	Ormachea
CF	Wenner	Varela
IL	Kroll	Carnevali
OL	Pepper	G. Williams

Score by quarters:

FROSTBURG	0	2	1	2	—5
MARYLAND	1	0	1	0	—2

Substitutes: Frostburg — Inskeep, Cain, Fitzgerald, Devore, Leonard. Maryland Freshmen — Harryman, O'Brien, Fox, Smerk, Sell.

Women's 10-Team Shuffle Circuit To Open Tonight

The Women's National Shuffleboard League of Allegany County, which has grown from five to ten teams since last winter, will launch its 1949-50 season tonight.

Teams competing in the circuit are Stadium Inn and the Century A. C., of Frostburg; Cresap Tavern, Cumberland V.F.W., Cumberland Moose, Cumberland Owls Club, Cumberland Woodmen of the World, Viaduct Inn, Ruth's Tavern and the South End Republican Club.

The league will play a split season schedule covering 18 weeks, nine each half, and the championship team will receive a trophy from the National Shuffleboard Company. Cresap Tavern defeated the Owls Club in the playoff for the title last season.

Mrs. Elizabeth Junkins is president of the league, Mrs. Mary Humbertson is secretary and Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, treasurer.

V. F. W. at Cresap Tavern.

Moose at Owls Club.

Viaduct Inn and Woodmen of the World.

Stadium Inn at Century A. C. (Frostburg)

Kuhel May Manage Yankee Farm Team

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (INS) — General manager George Weiss of the New York Yankees said today that Joe Kuhel, former Washington Senator manager, is being considered as a pilot in the Yankee farm system.

Weiss said Kuhel would be considered as manager at Kansas City in the American Association if Bill Skiff is not retained. He said it has not been decided whether Skiff will run the club again next year or be given another assignment.

Kuhel was released by the Senators after they finished last in the 1949 American League pennant race.

"Bing" Is Released

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (INS)—The Chicago White Sox announced today the release of Coach Edmund (Bing) Miller.

The unconditional release of Miller was made by General Manager Frank Lane upon a recommendation by Field Manager Jack Onslow.

Miller had been with the Pale Hose for eight years. The 55-year-old Miller had previously coached the Boston Red Sox and Detroit. He was a former major league outfielder on the Washington Senators, the Philadelphia Athletics, the St. Louis Browns and the Boston Red Sox between 1921 and 1936.

Kells Have Daughter

NEWPORT, Ark., Oct. 25 (AP) — A six-pound daughter was born today to Mrs. George Kell, wife of the 1949 American League batting champion.

The Detroit Tiger third baseman and his wife have a son, George, Jr., four.

Lindsay Expected To Play For Hawks Against Pioneers

Paul Lindsay, regular fullback, who suffered a knee injury early in the Moorefield game two weeks ago and failed to get into the Fort Hill game last week, is expected to return to Ridgeley High School's lineup when the Blackhawks battle the undefeated Romney High Pioneers, Friday at Romney, it was learned last night.

Lindsay's injury has responded to treatment and if nothing goes wrong between now and game time he'll be in the starting lineup.

Romney will be defending a five-game winning streak in this contest. If Ridgeley can stop Romney and Keyser is able to win over Moorefield on the same day the winners will go into a triple tie for first place in the P.V.C. with Romney.

Blue Hills Cops Governor Bowie Handicap Race

8,079 Brave Rainy Opener At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25 (AP)—Jockey Eddie Arcaro saved his mount's speed for the stretch and then urged Brookmeade Stable's Blue Hills home first in track record time today in Pimlico's Governor Bowie Handicap.

Eddie Arcaro

The Bowie was the featured race on a rainy opening day card at Pimlico. Braving the continual drizzle were 8,079 fans who bet $512,674 compared to Pimlico's 1948 opening day mutuel of $780,355.

Blue Hills went the exacting mile and three-quarters in 2:55.2, one-fifth faster than the old Pimlico record set last year by Pilaster, who finished second by a length today. Double Brandy was third.

Arcaro broke Blue Hills in front at the start and stayed there until the first turn. Then he let A. J. Sackett's Gasparilla take over to wage a duel with Double Brandy.

On the second time around, Arcaro gave Blue Hills the boot and the brown gelding pulled to the fore going into the stretch. He fought off Pilaster, who had come up from the rear in the final run.

Gasparilla, challenged repeatedly by Double Brandy through most of the race, finally faded back to fourth ahead of Natural and Quemadito.

Blue Hills went into the 36th running of the Governor Bowie off a winning allowance race at New York. The 3-year-old previously had finished second to Calumet Farm's Ponder in the Lawrence Realization Stakes. Today's victor was worth $5,565.

Arcaro earlier in the program brought in the second half of a $615 daily double. He won the second race with Pilayya for an $11 payoff. Gay Pilate started off the meeting with a whopping $205 for $2.

Pancho Gonzales Loses To Kramer

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Jack Kramer defeated Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, at Madison Square Garden tonight in a tennis match that launched the professional career of the California-born Mexican who succeeded Kramer as national amateur champ.

Gonzales was clearly the favorite with the crowd of 13,357 but the 21-year-old husky from the public courts of Los Angeles lacked the all-around game to cope with the court-wise Kramer, at least in their initial meeting.

Their match was the first in a professional tour that will carry them to at least 90 cities in the next 12 months.

And it reminded fans of Kramer's own profesional debut in the same arena less than two years ago when he bowed to Bobby Riggs after giving up the major amateur titles of the world to follow the money game.

Frankie Parker, 33-year-old campaigner of the courts, also lost his professional debut, bowing to Francisco (Pancho) Segura, 6-3, 6-4, in the two-out-of-three set match which opened the program.

Segura, a much-improved tennis player since the days he ruled the intercollegiate ranks while at Miami (Fla.) University in 1943-1945, outsteadied Parker at the baseline, where the Los Angeles veteran usually excels.

Chilco Sunnyboy Captures Final In Beagle Trial

Spiker, Weires Hounds Place Second, Reserve

Chilco Sunnyboy, owned by Lawrence E. Chilcoat, Parkton, Md., and handled by Bob Bass, was placed first among the 28 hounds entered in the final day's program of the Allegany Beagle Club's AKC licensed field trial yesterday at the club's grounds, Barton Dairy Farm, McMullen Highway.

Handler Bob Bass stayed during the entire trials which lasted four days and entered a total of 32 hounds, three of which placed first (one finishing her championship and considered the outstanding run of the entire meet) one third, one fourth and one reserve.

Spiker's Hound Second

R. L. Spiker, charter member and first president of the Allegany Beagle Club, placed his Wing Ridge Benjamin, young derby hound born April 30, 1948, in second place. Spiker is field trial secretary of the National Beagle Club, Aldie, Va. The National is the parent organization of all beagle clubs.

Plum Creek Andy, owned and handled by C. C. Shoenfelt, Roaring Springs, Pa., placed third.

Weires' Handsome Pat, owned by the Allegany Beagle Club president, Walter L. Weires, placed reserve. Pat was handled by Frank Eckman, Spring Lake, N. J., a professional handler who has been running him for the past two months in the eastern circuit. Eckman also had four other hounds entered in this class.

Trial Is Huge Success

The first licensed trial ever held here proved to be a huge success in all respects. The weather was ideal for the gallery but running conditions were a little hard on the hounds due to the dryness of the leaves until the last day when a steady downpour made it rather rough on the handlers and hounds.

Out-of-town beaglers and professional handlers remarked about the game being so plentiful, the ease and efficiency with which the trial was handled and the very able and efficient judging done by Robert F. "Bob" Shockey, Meyersdale, Pa., and Edwin J. "Ed" Slosky, Brownsville, Pa.

The kennel club building, furnished by Harry J. Barton, well known dairyman and sportsman, was praised as being one of the best in the east. Excellent meals were provided each day by "Cappy" Haller.

Maxim TKOs Kahut

CINCINNATI, Oct. 25 (AP)—Joey Maxim of Cleveland, 182½, scored a technical knockout over Joe Kahut, 188, Portland, Ore., here tonight when the City Boxing Commission doctor refused to allow the westerner answer the bell for the fifth round.

Dr. Walter Phillips, the boxing physician, stopped the bout after Kahut had suffered a cut over his left temple. Between rounds Kahut's seconds were unable to stop what the physician called "a temporal hemorrhage."

Maxim, the National Boxing Association American light heavyweight champion, was razor sharp tonight in the over-the-weight limit fight.

Gridders Of Six Schools Invited To Frosh Contest

Coaches and players of six district high school football teams, namely, Allegany, Fort Hill, LaSalle, Keyser, Beall and Ridgeley and boys participating in the Catholic Youth Program have been invited to be guests of Cumberland Council, Knights of Columbus, at the second annual grid game tomorrow night at the stadium between the West Virginia University Freshmen and the University of Maryland Freshmen at 8 o'clock.

James Condon and Paul Nose, members of the K. of C. committee, announced that bands of Fort Hill and Allegany high schools will play before the game gets under way and during intermission.

The West Virginia team will arrive at 4 p. m., tomorrow while the Little Terps are scheduled to put in their appearance at noon and will remain here over Thursday night.

Slumping Cards Appoint Parker As Head Coach

Phil Handler Named Team Vice President

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP) — The slumping Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League today broke up their Texan co-coaching combination of Buddy Parker and Phil Handler, then named 35-year-old Parker as the head coach.

Handler, 41, war-time head coach and associated with the Cardinals for 20 seasons, was appointed vice-president. He will be in charge of signing talent.

The change was announced by club president Ray Benningsen. It was not entirely unexpected in the wake of the Cardinals' third league defeat in a 24-7 loss to the Detroit Lions here Sunday. The Lions had been winless in four previous starts.

Parker will be in full command of the team. Dick Plasman and Marshall Goldberg will continue as assistants. A new aide will be tackle Chet Bulger, who will remain an active player.

Parker has been with the Cardinals 13 seasons as player and then coach.

Bennigsen did not comment on reasons for the change. But it was reported he and owner Violet Bidwill were displeased with team progress under the split command.

Cardinal personnel is virtually the same as that which swept the team to the league championship in 1947 and the western division title last season.

Injuries to such key performers as Charley Trippi, Pat Harder and Mal Kutner were reflected in losses to the Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Bears this season. But the Cardinals were in good shape for the underdog Lions last Sunday. The Cardinals defeated the Washington Redskins and Green Bay Packers in their two other starts.

Parker is from Kemp, Tex., and played halfback for Centenary College. Handler is a one-time guard for Texas Christian. They were appointed co-coaches early this year when head coach Jimmy Conzelman resigned.

Western Maryland Tops American U. Booters

WESTMINSTER, Md., Oct. 25 (AP) —Bob Kittels booted three goals today to pace Western Maryland to a 4-0 victory over American University in a Mason-Dixon Conference soccer game.

It was American U's fourth straight conference loss and Western Maryland's debut in circuit play, giving them an overall record of two wins in four games.

Scoring: Winfrey, Kittels 3.

Army Leads In Race For Lambert Trophy

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Army's football team, which walloped Columbia last Saturday, leads the parade in the race for the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of eastern football supremacy. The Cadets have 986 points of a possible 1,000.

Bullets Buy Player

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)— Syracuse Nationals of the National Basketball Association today announced sale of Marvin Schatzman to the Baltimore Bullets for an undisclosed sum.

Art Deutsch, Syracuse general manager, said the six-foot, five-inch St. Louis University alumnus would join the Bullets in Burlington, Vt., tonight.

County League Bowlers Hang Up Four New Marks

Paul Stakem Hits 641, Clark Posts 250 Game

Four new season records were established during the fifth week of the County Bowling League season, according to figures furnished by William V. Smith, of Lonaconing, secretary of the 10-team circuit.

Paul Stakem of the Club Juniors, current pacesetters, toppled 641 pins in three games to better the former mark of 634 hung up by Lou Bell.

Sweeping three games from the Devon Club, the Club Juniors beat their former record of 2,686 by spilling 2,765 sticks.

The only record that survived last week's pin spilling performance was the Westernport team's high game of 955.

Roxy swept three games from the Lonaconing A. & P., and the Frostburg Majestics, Keyser and Goodfellowship Club scored 2-1 decisions over the Lonaconing Republicans, Club Recreation and Maple Lanes of Westernport.

Majestic—Scarpelli 532 and Spates 500; Lonaconing Republican Club—Clark 586 and Moses 520.

Keyser—Oss 503; Club Recreation —McGready 500.

Goodfellowship—H. Bland 590; L. Hockman 519; Maples Lanes — P. Inskeep 571; B. Clise 528; B. Wilson 508.

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Club Juniors	12	3	.800
Goodfellowship Club	11	4	.733
Club Recreation	11	4	.733
Westernport	10	5	.667
Roxy	9	6	.600
Frostburg Majestics	8	7	.533
Keyser	6	9	.400
Lonaconing Republicans	4	11	.267
Lonaconing A. & P.	2	13	.133
Devon Club	2	13	.133

Corum May Succeed Col. Matt J. Winn

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 25 (INS) —A new director of the Kentucky Derby to succeed the late Col. Matt J. Winn probably will be named Friday.

Selection committee chairman William H. Veeneman announced today that recommendations will be made at 11 a. m. CST, Friday to a joint board meeting of the American Turf Association and Churchill Downs race track.

Col. Winn, who died on Oct. 6, was president of both the American Turf Association and Churchill Downs, site of the famed American racing classic. He operated the Derby in his joint capacity.

The successor must be approved by the boards of the two organizations.

Bill Corum, nationally famous sports columnist for the New York Journal-American and International News Service, reportedly is the No. 1 choice of the selection committee.

Others who supposedly are leading candidates include George (Brownie) Leach, veteran Churchill Downs publicity director, and Rep. Tom Underwood of Lexington, Ky., a former state racing official.

Game Is Rescheduled

The Beall-Bruce soccer game postponed yesterday on account of rain has been rescheduled for today at 3:30 p.m. at Beall High School Field, Frostburg.

TO VISIT KEYSER — Hugo Bezdek, 64, noted football mentor, and former manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, brings his National Agricultural College eleven of Doylestown, Pa., to Keyser on Saturday to play Potomac State School. Bezdek coached two Rose Bowl teams — Oregon and Penn State — the Cleveland Rams of the NFL and served as athletic director at Penn State. He made Walter Camp's All-America second team when he played at the University of Chicago.

To Play In Manila

MANILA, Oct. 25 (AP) — Two top ranking U. S. pros, Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum, have accepted invitations to play in the Philippines Open Golf Tournament Nov. 24, Whackwack Country Club officials announced today.

Noted Mentor Leads Aggies Against Cats

Coached Rose Bowl Teams, Once Managed Pittsburgh Pirates

Hugo Bezdek, a big name in collegiate football for many years, will be at the helm of the National Agricultural College eleven of Doylestown, when the Pennsylvanias meet Potomac State School Saturday at 2 p. m., at Stayman Field, Keyser, Coach Dana G. Lough of the Catamounts announced last night.

Bezdek, 64, now owns a large poultry farm in Bucks County, Pa., and returned to take over the coaching reins at the 53-year-old Pennsylvania school this year. National Agricultural College is a 4-year school and has 1,400 acres of land.

Hugo starred as a back under Coach Alonzo A. Stagg at the University of Chicago. He tipped the beam at only 175 pounds when he was named fullback on Walter Camp's second All-America team. Bezdek coached two Rose Bowl teams and gained an even break. In 1917 his Oregon eleven defeated Pennsylvania, 14-0, while in 1923 his Military Lions of Penn State lost to Southern California, 14-3.

From Oregon State Bezdek went to the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League as manager in 1917, succeeding Honus Wagner late that season. He also managed the Buccaneers in 1918 and 1919 and was succeeded by George Gibson in 1920 after he accepted a 10-year contract to coach football at Penn State at an annual salary of $10,000 annually. After giving up the coaching reins at Penn State in 1929 to Bob Higgins, Bezdek became athletic director at the State School school and held that post until 1935. In 1937 and 1938 he coached Cleveland's Rams in the National Professional Football League in 1937 and 1938.

LOCOMOTIVES WIN

Belligerent buck deer are waging war on the trains of the Canadian Pacific Railroad. The deer invading the CPR right of way are challenging the smoking iron monsters and, with antlers lowered, are charging speeding locomotives. The deer have yet to win an encounter, but others are still attacking.

Mehrtens Wins With Curandero

Scores Nose Victory In New York Feature

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP) — King Ranch's Curandero withstood a furious stretch challenge from Hal Price Headleys's Shakeme to win the Highland Purse, an allowance race of a mile and a sixteenth, feature of today's Empire City Racing Association program at the Jamaica race track.

With Warren Mehrtens in the irons, the 3-year-old son of Brazado-Ciencia, scored by a nose over Shakeme, who was four lengths to the good of Edward Werber's Vamanos, the show horse.

Curandero was timed in 145 3-5 and returned a mutuel of $8.60, $5.40 and $5.00. Shakeme was $9.00 and $6.20 and Vamanos returned $9.40 to show.

Stoudt Pilots Victor

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 25 (AP) — Petew Cotter, sporting the silks of A. P. Cotter, raced to a one and one-half length triumph today at Garden State Park in the featured Mt. Holly Purse before a crowd of 9,511.

Carrara Marble, the favorite in the race, finished second, a nose before Woodford Sir, third in the field of eight sprinters. Evening Rose was a non threatening fourth.

Jockey Jimmy Stout sent Petey Cotter to the front as the gates opend, but he lost the lead to Itsabet mid-way through the back-stretch. He regained it quickly, however, and was drawing away at the finish, despite a stout challenge by Carrara Marble.

Petey Cotter, one of the leading candidates for the Benjamin Franklin Handicap down for decision at the Camden course November 1, toured the six furlongs in 1:11 1-5 and rewarded his supporters with $10.00, $4.80 and $3.40 across the board.

Oleander Triumphs

LINCOLN, R. I., Oct. 25 (AP) — Dave Zakoor's Oleander, favorite of the crowd of 4,106 overtook E. A. Simpson's Saxon Door in the final stride today to win the Portsmouth claiming purse by a nose at Lincoln Downs.

The three year-old Can't Wait filly closed willingly in the home stretch under urging from Willie Zakoor, 19-year-old son of the owner, and finished the six and a half furlongs in 1:22 3-5.

Oleander paid $6.80, $4.60 and $3.40, Saxon Door returned $8.00 and $4.80, and S. H. Roger's Gunner, a length and a quarter back of Saxon Door, paid $3.40 to show.

Miner Killed In Rock Fall At Mill Run

Ross Harrison Sterner, 34-year-old Addison Township, Pa., miner, was killed instantly when the roof of Vipex Mine at Mill Run caved in Monday afternoon.

Dr. E. I. Baumgardner, Garrett County deputy medical examiner, said Sterner, his father, Jesse Sterner, and his brother, Woodrow Sterner, all of Route 3, Confluence, Pa., had started to make a new opening in the pit, which had not been worked for some time.

The victim, working 50 feet from the old opening and about six feet from his brother, was struck in the face by falling rock.

Sterner's father rushed from the mine, between Addison and Friendsville, to summon the Addison Volunteer Fire Company's rescue squad.

The victim's body was extricated from the slide an hour and a half later. Dr. Baumgartner said death was apparently instantaneous; adding that Sterner's face was badly crushed, and his left arm fractured.

Frank Powers, head of the Maryland Bureau of Mones, said his department was conducting an investigation of the accident, the fourth mine fatality, in the state this year.

Sterner served as a paratrooper in the European Theater during World War II, and was a life resident of Addison.

Besides his father and brother, he is survived by his mother, his widow, the former Mrs. Reba Haynes of Oklahoma; two sons, Wayne and Richard, at home; and four sisters, Mrs. June Snyder, Addison; Mrs. Clema Green, Route 1, Confluence; Mrs. Dorothy Fazenbaker, Route 3, Confluence, and Mrs. Mary Shipley, Jefferson, Pa.

The body is at the Reichsberger Funeral Home, Addison, where a service will be conducted at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Other mine fatalities this year were Wolford Richard Perando, 32, who died June 23 at the Hamill Mine No. 1, Kitzmiller, in a rock fall; Fred William Knisely, 23, Eckhart, and Kenneth Brown Riggleman, Westernport, who were killed in an explosion at the William Brashears Mine near Westernport.

You will probably find it difficult to believe the statement which appears above as the headline for this message. But records indicate that it is true, nevertheless.

The reason for this is found in a surprising fact: There are eight other motor car manufacturers who produce certain models which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac and approximately four hundred thousand of these higher-priced models have been produced and sold in the post-war era.

Undoubtedly, a great many of the people who bought these cars did so because Cadillac cars were not available at the time—a situation now happily being remedied. But it is doubtless true that many owners of these higher-priced cars don't realize what they did.

Cadillac has such a wonderful world-wide reputation for goodness and quality that many who can afford it mistakenly conclude it is beyond their means. So they pay the price of a Cadillac—and don't get a Cadillac.

We don't believe you would want that to happen to you. So we suggest that you come in and let us give you the actual delivered price here in this community for a Cadillac Sixty-one, equipped exactly as you want it. Let that be your economic yardstick as you select your car.

If you pay for a Cadillac, we think you will want to make sure that you get one.

Pair Ordered To Sunday School

Ordered to "attend Sunday School regularly," Charles E. Swandol, Williams Road, and Raymond W. Wills Roberts Street, were given suspended 60-day jail sentences on larceny charges yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

The youths pleaded guilty before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti to stealing a .12 gauge shotgun and radio valued at $20 from a shed at the city dump last Thursday.

City Police found the shotgun in tall weeds off Roberts Street and deputy sheriffs located the radio at Wills' home. Kenneth Sibley was listed as the owner.

Magistrate Carpenti paroled the two for one year and ordered them to report to the State's Attorney's office once a month on their Sunday School attendance.

John P. Burkett, 146 Frederick Street, was given a suspended 30-day sentence on a charge of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Marion Burkett, on Sunday. Paroled for one year, he was ordered to refrain from molesting her and be of good behavior generally.

Found guilty of assaulting another woman, Zelda White, Virginia Avenue, drew a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. She was arrested on the complaint of Carrie Deck, this city, who claimed the attack occurred last Tuesday in the Tip Top Restaurant on Virginia Avenue. The White woman was paroled for one year.

Local Man Pleads Guilty To Robbery

A local man pleaded guilty yesterday at Ebensburg, Pa., to charges of robbing the American Legion Home and Station Supply Company at Gallitzin, Pa., earlier this month.

However, sentence for Andrew Robinson, 39, was deferred until December when two of his alleged accomplices face trial.

Robinson was arrested at Portage, Pa., with William F. Jackson, 53, and Rupert Welch, 35, both of Pittsburgh, who will be tried on similar charges in December.

RAIN, SNOW OR SLEET

it's Perfect washday weather with a HAMILTON AUTOMATIC GAS CLOTHES DRYER

Wonderful things happen to washday when you put an automatic gas clothes dryer to work for you.

WORRY? NO MORE!

No ma'am. Let it storm outside—your wash dries inside . . . automatically, sun-sweet, in minutes. You'll never again have to dash out in bad weather to hurry clothes in off the line. You'll never again have your cellar all cluttered up with clotheslines and wet wash.

WORK? YOU DON'T!

There's no work at all to drying clothes with an automatic Gas clothes dryer. No lines to put up. No heavy baskets of wash to lift. No hanging and taking down every piece. Simply transfer clothes from your washer to your Gas dryer—that's all! Your clothes dry like magic, cleaner and sweeter than ever before.

TIME? YOU SAVE HOURS!

While one load washes, the previous one dries. You'll have plenty of time to wash and iron the same day. And what's more—much of your wash fluff-dries so smooth that it needn't be ironed at all. You'll finish hours ahead of schedule and you'll feel fresher than you ever did on any washday.

Don't be old-fashioned. DRY YOUR WASH THE MODERN WAY WITH AN AUTOMATIC GAS CLOTHES DRYER

Police Boxes To Be Replaced

Commissioner of Police and Fire William V. Keegan's plans to build larger and more modern traffic boxes on Baltimore Street have been furthered.

Monday, Keegan and Norman Chirdon of the Buchanan Lumber Company were in Frederick inspecting street boxes used by the police department there. Chirdon will design the boxes for the local force.

The first, Keegan added, will be placed at the corner of Baltimore and Mechanic Streets. The box will be higher, more modern and have a grillwork floor. A heating unit will be installed under the grillwork and the boxes will have a new-type window.

Also furthering a maintenance and administration change policy announced last week, Keegan said yesterday he is working on a plan to have members of the force on steady jobs instead of shifting around.

It was indicated that other changes will be made.

Rubber Workers Plan By-Law Changes

The by-laws of Local 26, URCLPWA, met last night to consider proposed changes and additions to the union's by-laws. R. C. Burkhart, union president, said the meeting was the first in a series.

Burkhart announced he is drafting a resolution urging action on another resolution submitted to the international union, which would place the local, on a company-wide bargaining basis.

The first resolution was submitted at the recent international convention in Toronto, Canada, and was referred to the International Executive Board.

Burkhart said the change, if made, would allow the local to negotiate directly with the Goodyear bargaining committee.

Soldier Jailed For Bus Theft

Pvt. George William Bartz, 22, of 323 Bedford Street, drew 55 days in jail in lieu of a total of $157.25 in fines yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after pleading guilty to three state motor charges, including the theft of a bus.

The defendant was fined $100.75 for drunken driving; $50.75 for unauthorized use and $5.75 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license.

No testimony was taken from witnesses but Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said Bartz admitted taking the bus of Jones A. Smoak, 347 Davidson Street, to drive back to his Army Post at Valley Forge, Pa., early Sunday.

Police said Bartz drove to Bedford Road and wrecked the vehicle in an attempt to miss an oncoming car. A bottle of whisky was found in his pocket as he crawled through a window of the wrecked bus, authorities added.

Smoak pointed out yesterday that he had received $60 for damages to the bus, but Magistrate Frank A. Perdew said that the "settlement of damages doesn't decrease the danger to the public."

Annual Mineral Soil Program Elections Set

District Voting Is Planned Tomorrow

KEYSER, W. Va.—The Production and Marketing Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture will hold annual elections in Mineral County, Thursday, at 7:30 p. m to select community committeemen to assist in administration of the 1950 Soil Conservation program, price support and other programs.

For administrative purposes, Mineral Count is divided into seven agriculture districts or communities and election will be held in each of these on the above date and at the following places:

At these elections, delegates to a County Convention will also be chosen. These delegates will meet in the county office of the Production and Marketing Administration, Friday, October 28, and elect a county committee of three regular members with two alternate members.

The Soil Conservation program, administered by Production and Marketing Administration, has been of great benefit to farmers of the County and deserves their interest and support, officials declared.

Work Starts On New Frostburg Armory

Contractors are busily engaged on the construction of a new National Guard Armory building on lower Consolidation Road, at the end of South Water Street, Frostburg, to serve as training headquarters for Company D, 115th Infantry. When completed the structure will be 144 feet long and 60 feet wide. Work is being done by the Globe Improvement Company, Baltimore. Baughman Construction Company did excavation and filling. Brick work has been contracted to J. W. Smith and Sons, this city. C. N. Cline was foreman in charge for Globe but he left this week for another job, leaving the work in charge of DeWitt F. Schwartz, supervisor of the Oakland Armory job. The job is expected to be finished in 60 days, weather permitting. The building is adjacent to the Community Swimming Pool and the Frostburg Baseball Park.

School Demurrer Hearing Set

OAKLAND—Saturday, October 29, at 10 a. m. has been set for hearing arguments in the demurrer filed recently by the County Commissioners in reply to a suit filed by several citizens in an attempt to prevent the commissioners from continuing with plans to erect two new high school buildings in the county.

The demurrer was filed September 19, declaring the declaration of the plaintiffs is "bad in substance and insufficient in law." Neil C. Fraley, W. W. Dawson and W. R. Offutt, who signed the demurrer as attorneys for the County Commissioners, will argue on behalf of the demurrer being sustained.

If sustained the suit brought by Ronald E. McIntire and others would be null and void. If rejected, the Commissioners will be required to file a reply to the declaration.

The complainants are asking that the Commissioner be permanently enjoined from expending money provided the recent act of the legislature in constructing new school buildings at or near Oakland and the Cove.

The hearing on the demurrer will be before a full bench, it was stated. Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish, and Associate Judges George Henderson and Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., expect to be present in the Court Chambers at Oakland.

Women Of Moose Plan Initiation

KEYSER, W. Va. — A formal initiation will be conducted by the Keyser Women of the Moose, Chapter No. 191, at their regular meeting Thursday evening.

The program will be in charge of the Mooseheart chairman. "Christmas in October" gifts will be assembled for both Mooseheart and Moosehaven.

World Communion Service Planned

FROSTBURG — Mrs. Arch Davis, president of the Frostburg Council of Church Women, announced that a World Communion service will be held November 4 at 7:30 p. m. at the Church of the Brethren.

The topic of the service will be "Peace Is Possible," and the project of the church women for the year is "Pieces For Peace." Each person attending the service is to bring a needle and thread and cloth for quilts wrapped in a piece of blue denim.

Last year toilet articles presented at the meeting were mailed to needy families throughout the world. Several letters of thanks were received here from Poland and the Philippines.

Turkey, Bear Kills Reported

PARSONS, W. Va. — Fielding Kyer, conservation officer of Tucker County, announced that six men reported kills during the past week, five of which were in Tucker County.

Amos George of Hendricks bagged a hen on October 19, at Mozark Mountain; Denzil Harris and C. R. McCarty of Morgantown, killed hens on Shaffer Mountain, October 18. Burton George and Ernest Price of Parsons, killed hens on Shaff-Mountain, October 18. Ellis Jones of St. George bagged an 18-pound gobbler at Dry Fork, Randolph County, on October 18.

Five black bear were also reported killed the same week with Dick Judy of Parsons reporting two killed, a 200-pounder at Otter Creek on October 21 and a 200-pounder at Backbone Mountain on October 22, to give him a total of four for the season.

Charles Kight of Keiper, W. Va., killed a 135-pound bear on October 17 at Red Run. Wheeler Jenkins bagged a 300-pound bear at Backbone Mountain on October 22. Frank Williams of Washington, D. C., shot a 150-pound bear at Red Run October 17.

Two deer have been killed with a 125-pound doe killed by an auto on Davis Mountain on Route 32. The doe was dressed and given to the hot lunch center of Davis high school. The other doe was killed by an unknown hunter at Mackeysville and was spoiled when found.

Lonaconing Items

There will be a masquerade dance at the Lonaconing Republican Club Saturday night, from 9 to 12 o'clock. Prizes will go to the best dressed and most comically dressed.

W. Va. Farm Bureau And Woman's Council To Hold Joint Meeting

KEYSER, W. Va.—The West Virginia Farm Bureau and West Virginia Farm Women's Council will hold a joint district meeting at Burlington, Friday, at the church, according to Samuel S. Smith, president of the Mineral County Farm Bureau.

Reservations for lunch should be sent to J. E. Prettyman, county agent, Keyser. The meeting is open to the public, Smith added.

Registration, 9:45 a. m. followed by an introductory program by Song Leader Irene Spitz, recreation specialist. Clyde Bonar, president of the State Farm Bureau, will act as chairman of the meeting. The address of welcome will be delivered by S. S. Smith, president of the county bureau and Clyde Bonar will follow with a talk on progress of secondary roads.

Senator Dayton R. Stemple, Philippi, will talk on "Proposed constitutional Amendments in 1950," and will be followed by Leland Booth, secretary-treasurer, West Virginia Farm Bureau, with a talk on "What Publicity Can Do."

"Buying a Share in the United States," will be the subject of an address by Andrew R. Birney, U. S. U. S. Savings Bond Division, U. S. Treasury, and J. C. "Jack" Lynn, American Farm Bureau Federation official, Washington, will talk on "The Activities of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Looking After the Farmer's Interests in National Legislation."

Lunch will be served at 12:15 p. m. at Old Homestead Hotel.

At the afternoon session George R. Heidrich, director W. Va. Farm Bureau, will act as chairman, and Mrs. Raymond Sayre, president of the Associated Women of the A. F. B. F., and also Associated Country Women of the World, will discuss "Benchmarks of Progress."

"Our Community Program and How It Can Help to Build a Stronger Farm Bureau," will be the subject of a talk by Robert W. Pitts, director, Commodity Service Department of the West Virginia Farm Bureau.

C. C. Anderson of the Agricultural Extension Service, will speak on "Grass Roots Thinking and Community Program Building." Mrs. G. E. Myers, Jr., president of the W. Va. Farm Women's Council, has chosen as her subjects: "As Rural Women Think in West Virginia." "Building for 1950" is the subject to be discussed by F. L. Miles, organization director of the West Virginia Farm Bureau, in closing the program.

Clarysville Firemen To Hold Supper

FROSTBURG — The Clarysville Fire Department will hold a turkey supper Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the club house of the Eckhart Square Circle Sportsmen's Association. The affair is for members of the fire department and the Ladies Auxiliary.

Addresses will be delivered by officers of the Allegany-Garrett County Fireman's Association. The committee in charge is George Walters, chairman; Herbert Knepp, Jennings Brode, Marshall Porter and Raymand Kallmyer.

Law Officers Plan Meeting

KEYSER, W. Va. — Plans are complete for the law enforcement officers' meeting to be held November 1 at the Music Hall.

Arrangements are being handled by John D. Anthony, in charge of the F.B.I. office in Martinsburg, with the local plans being taken care of by Chief of Police Claude A. Martin. The meeting will begin at 2 p. m.

Anthony asked that police officers of the area be invited to attend the session, and Chief Martin has sent invitations to more than 30 area officers, including those in Cumberland, Ridgeley, and nearby communities and extending as far as Elkins.

Federal Bureau of Investigation officers will conduct the meeting. K. C. Moore will talk to the assembly on "Three Actual Arrest Problems." This will be followed by a discussion of recent Supreme Court decisions, with emphasis on taking signed statements and interrogation, by J. E. Thornton.

Accidents Fatal To Area Man

UPPER TRACT, W. Va., — Tracy R. Berg, 19, Upper Tract, was fatally injured Monday when the truck in which he was riding upset on a curve on Route 14, just west of Washingtonville, Ohio.

Berg died in an ambulance enroute to Salem, Ohio, City Hospital as the result of a broken neck, fractured skull and crushed chest.

Two Face Grand Jury Action For Attempted Rape

Tunnelton Pair In Tucker Jail

PARSONS, W. Va.—Two Tunnelton men are being held in Tucker County Jail in default of $1,000 bond for Grand Jury action on charges of attempted rape of a widow with three children.

Harlan Grimm, 25, and William Simpson, 24, appeared Monday before Justice of the Peace Lawrence Lipscomb, Parsons, to answer an accusation of attempted rape of Grimm's first cousin, Mrs. Evelyn Owens, about 23, Licking Creek, October 15.

Officers said according to Mrs. Owens' testimony, Grimm and Sampson followed her as she walked from the home of her father to her own residence early the morning of October 15.

The two asked for a cup of coffee and the attack occurred at that time, Mrs. Owens told authorities.

An unidentified 12-year-old girl heard Mrs. Owens call for help and helped ward off the attackers, authorities said. The child was hurt, they added.

The widow notified her father, E. O. Jeffries, of the attack and he came to Parsons to swear out a warrant. The men were picked up a week later.

Homemakers Plan Achievement Day

FROSTBURG—Following the annual Halloween party of the Shaft Homemakers last week at the home of Mrs. Frank Alexander, president, there was a business meeting and a demonstration by Miss Maude Bean, county demonstration agent on the merits of various types of electric irons.

Committees named for the achievement program November 17, when 4-H boys and 4-H girls will take part in the program, are:

Program, Mrs. Clarence Miller, Mrs. Henry Rank, Mrs. Ray Layman and Mayme Chapman; refreshments, Mrs. George Wade, Mrs. Herman Winters and Mrs. Anthony Ritchie; achievement table, Mrs. Thomas Simmons, Mrs. Jesse Hoban and Mrs. Robert Cutter.

The club paid a special tribute to Miss Bean on her birthday. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Frostburg Briefs

The Men's Bowling League of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will play a series of matches Thursday evening at 8 o'clock on the alleys of Chuckle's Recreation Center, Wright's Crossing.

The Young Men's Republican Club will hold a business meeting tonight in the club rooms, East Main Street, followed by a social session with a program of entertainment.

Couple Wed In Evening Service

MT. SAVAGE—Miss Julia Marie Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Robertson, became the bride of George Junior Carder, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Carder Friday evening at 7:30 in St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

The bride is a graduate of Beall High School, class of 1949, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Mt. Savage High School. He served three years in the Navy and is now employed by the E. C. Feller Coal Company, Inc.

Ministerial Student Gets Jail Sentence

KEYSER, W. Va. — A confessed forger and correspondence school ministerial student was given three penitentiary terms of two to ten years each, to run concurrently, yesterday in Mineral County Circuit Court.

Judge E. A. See sentenced Harley Oswald Coleman, Elk District, when he pleaded guilty to forging checks for $24, $28 and $29 and passing them on to Keyser businessmen.

Testimony revealed that Coleman was arrested for forging the three checks one month to the day after being released from a state prison on a forgery charge.

Coleman's previous record, presented by the prosecution, showed he first was arrested July, 1939, for forgery and had been placed on probation for three years.

He admitted passing bad checks in Cumberland prior to being convicted in Hinton on his last charge. He was last sentenced to the State Penitentiary, but spent most of his term in the Medium Security Prison at Huttonsville.

Coleman told the court he was planning to be a minister and, while in prison, had taken a correspondence course from Moody Bible Institute.

In another case, Arthur Helmick, Keyser, entered a plea of guilty to breaking and entering a home on the Keyser-Piedmont Road and was sentenced to five months in jail.

A similar charge against Robert Viney Hall, also of Keyser, Helmick's companion, was nolle prossed by the state when it was learned that he had no hand in breaking down the home door and taking clothes from the residence.

Present Play

SWANTON — The Young People of the United Brethren Church presented a play, "The Bible In The Home," Sunday evening at the church.

Bake Sale Planned

MIDLAND — The Midland Homemakers Club will hold a bake sale Saturday from 1:30 to 4 p. m. at the Devlin Meat Market, Main Street.

Noted Lutheran Minister Will Speak At Rally

Event Planned In Frostburg Sunday

FROSTBURG — A mass Reformation Rally, under the auspices of the Frostburg Ministerial Association, will be held Sunday evening at 7:30 in First Methodist Church, West Main Street.

Special music will be provided by the host church, while other choirs will lead the congregational singing. The choirs and the ministers will be robed in the vestments of their respective churches.

Guest preacher will be Rev. John L. Deaton, D. D., pastor of Christ English Lutheran Church, Baltimore. Christ Church is one of the largest and most influential churches in Baltimore and has been broadcasting its Sunday morning services over the national networks for the past twelve years.

Dr. Deaton holds an A. B. degree from Lenoir Rhyne College, Hickory, N. C., and a B. D. degree from the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia.

Lenoir Rhyne College conferred upon Dr. Deaton the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1935. Before coming to Baltimore in 1934 he served the Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Wyomissing, Penn., from 1918 to 1924, and the Lutheran Church of the Advocate, Germantown, Penn., from 1924 to 1934.

In addition to serving Christ Church, of some 2,000 members, Dr. Deaton has been president of the Board of Education of the United Lutheran Church in America since 1943. He held the presidency of the Council of Churches of Maryland and Delaware from 1945 to 1948. He is also a director of the Division Committee on Student Work of the National Lutheran Council and a director of the Baltimore Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Dr. Deaton is a member of the Evangelical Synod of Maryland, Committee on Ministerial Students; Deaconess Work; Pastoral Counseling; and Reference and Counsel.

Farm Bureau To Hold Dinner

OAKLAND—About 500 members of the Garrett County Farm Bureau are planning to attend the annual dinner and business meeting at Grantsville Thursday evening, November 3. Final plans for the annual meeting were made by the board of directors recently.

Dinner will be served at three churches in Grantsville, the Lutheran, Reformed and Methodist, which will be followed by a general assembly in the auditorium of Grantsville High school.

Foster Yost, president, said the speaker for the meeting would be announced. During the business session a president and two board members will be elected.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25. (INS)—For my money, Tommy Breen is one of the most attractive young men in our town. Perhaps I should call him Thomas, now that he is set for a top role in "The River," Rumer Godden's fascinating novel, which will be made by Ken McEldowney in India.

Tommy, who has red hair, and is very popular with the girls, is one of our war heroes, and was badly injured—but you can't kill the Irish, especially one with Tommy's courage, his lookout on life, and his will to live. He's the son of Joseph Breen, the dignified censor of all Hollywood films for Mr. Eric Johnston.

Tommy, who last appeared in "Battleground," leaves next week with Jean Renoir, director-producer, for India. This is the first of a series of four features which Oriental-International, headed by McEldowney, plans to make.

• — • — •

Must admit I was greatly intrigued when Ernest Ott Schuster long-distanced me from San Jose to tell me he had sold his first novel, "The Pancho Villa Story" to Albert J. Cohen, independent producer, for more money than he ever believed there is in the world. Beside the film rights, Schuster delivers to Mr. Cohen letters of authorization from both Mrs. Villa and the Mexican government for permission to make the Mexican bandid-revolutionist's life story in Mexico.

Schuster, once Villa's purchasing agent and a close personal friend of the Villa family, considers Pedro Armendariz perfect to play the Mexican Robin Hood. Remember Wally Beery's portrayal of Villa in "Viva Villa"?

The beautiful ring on the finger of Marcia Van Dyke, cousin of the late W. S. Van Dyke, was put there by Howard Keck, oil magnate. Marcia, who was in "Good Old Summertime," will be married in a month.

Ava Gardner and Lee MacGregor glimpsed at Ciro's two nights in a row. They will be there for Sophie Tucker's opening Friday—so you're safe in betting the romance will last at least another few days.

Frank and Nancy Sinatra and a few congenial friends gathered at the Henry Ginsbergs to say au revoir to Mildred and Henry, who are off for Cuba and New Orleans Friday. Sounds like fun.

Reminds me. Frank Sinatra sent Vic Damone, who opens at Mocambo next week, a wristwatch engraved: "To Vic from your friend, Frank Sinatra. Lots of luck."

This is Cameraman Stanley Cortez' year. His gorgeous photography in "The Man in the Eiffel Tower" is being greatly praised. Now, after nine years of marriage, his wife expects a baby.

The most enchanting gypsy violin music since Budapest, is played at the Cove Restaurant, by Murray Korda. Dined there sumptuously on peppercorn steak (out of this world), caviar blintzes, and other out of this world food. John Rice, formerly of the Savoi Plaza, knows all the answers to what the epicure enjoys. But, oh, my waning waistline!

Kirk Douglas collecting "Hopalong Cassidy" coins from Bill Boyd for his two sons. Kirk, Hoppy, and a group of us gathered at the Beverly Hills Hotel to say au revoir to Dick Richards, editor of London's Pictorial Review.

Arthur Ungar took Chief of Police Worton around the Strip the other eve. They stopped at Ciro's and Mocambo, and the chief found everything in order.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Paw Paw Lions Meet

A visiting team from the Ridgeley Lions Club, including Ralph Frantz, president, Aden Everstine, Frank Altic, was introduced to the club.

Yesterday's Answer

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: WHAT ARE THE FIELDS, OR FLOWERS, OR ALL I SEE? AH! TASTELESS ALL, IF NOT ENJOYED WITH THEE—PARNELL.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

HE HAS TO HAVE IT

THERE ARE certain situations in which you absolutely must treat a particular defender as the holder of a particular card, since otherwise you can't possibly make your contract. Sometimes such a card is marked as in his hand by the bidding or the play up to that point. At other times there is no indication as to which defender has it. But if your game contract is impossible unless the card is right where you hope, your only sound course is to act as if you took a peek and saw it there.

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♣	1 ♥	2 ♠
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

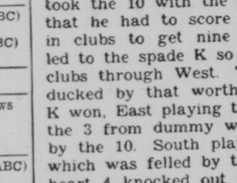

South let the heart Q win and took the 10 with the K. Seeing that he had to score something in clubs to get nine tricks, he led to the spade K so as to lead clubs through West. The 2 was ducked by that worthy and the K won, East playing the 9. Then the 3 from dummy was covered by the 10. South played the Q, which was felled by the A. The heart 4 knocked out the A and South led his club 6 to the J of East, who returned the diamond 2 to the A and enabled West to get two established hearts that cost the contract two tricks.

The critical point on this contract was the fourth trick, when the club 3 was led from the dummy. After East followed his 9 on the first club with the 10 on this, South's action should have been clear-cut. He said later that, if West had the J alone now, with the A in the East, the Q play would make his contract, which was true. But West had made a vulnerable overcall during the bidding, lacking the top two cards of his heart suit. It was almost certain, therefore, that West had the two minor suit aces.

If West had the club A, as he should, the one remaining question was as to whether he also retained the club J with it when the fifth trick came along. If he did, no possible play could make South's contract for him; if he did not, play of a low club would bring out the A and retain the Q for South to drop the J. If South had done that thinking and played low on the second club, he would have scored four tricks in that suit plus three in spades and two in hearts to make game.

Tomorrow's Problem

What defense will render it impossible for South to make 4-Spades on this deal?

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Ida B. Robinette, who passed away two years ago today, October 26, 1947.
She bade none a last farewell,
She said goodbye to none.
The Heavenly gates had opened,
A lovely voice said "come"!
And with farewell unspoken
She gently entered home.
Our dear one sleeps in silence,
We'd not disturb her rest;
Sad and lonely are the hearts of those who loved her best.
Sadly missed by Her Loving Daughter, Marion Evans

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Woodrow W. Null, who died 10 years ago, October 25.
There's an open gate at the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone,
And there is a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims His own.
Finds happiness and rest,
And there is comfort in the thought,
That a loving God knows best.
Sadly missed by his Mother,
Sisters and Brothers.

a single economy, is under consideration. Essential first steps are all that both the more farsighted Europeans and Hoffman now want. Step number one is considered to be a substantive economic union of France, Italy and Belgium, as a minimum. To accomplish such a union, something like a central bank would be established to superintend monetary problems. Currencies would be made fairly freely convertible. Import quotas would be greatly reduced. And the participating nations would become a unified trading area.

Step number two is considered to be admission of Western Germany to the organization for European economic cooperation. This recognition of the new German government's right to be heard on the problems of the European economy is in turn intended, to be only preliminary. Later on, it is envisioned that Western Germany will take her place, as partner, with France, Italy and the other economically unified nations. And so, at last, the foundations of true European economic union will be laid.

No more complex, no more constructive task has ever been undertaken by an American negotiator. Paul Hoffman should be wished Godspeed.

Miss Funkhouser's Engagement Noted

PARSONS, W. Va. — Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Funkhouser of Hambleton announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Joan, to Wallace Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennett, Parsons.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Parsons High School in 1947 where she was active in the National Honor Society, the Upper Ten and the Tri-Hi-Y. Since her graduation she has been employed as a dentist's assistant in Parsons.

Mr. Bennett, a well-known former football and basketball player, was graduated from Parsons High School in 1943, where he was a member of the All-Letter Club. He spent 33 months with the Army, 18 of which was in overseas duty. He is now employed by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company of Parsons.

The wedding will be an event of late December.

Phillips Arnold Marriage Told

PARSONS, W. Va.—Mrs. Beuna Phillips of Parsons announces the marriage of her daughter, Lorene Louise, to Paul E. Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Arnold, of Davis.

The single-ring ceremony was performed in St. John's Methodist Church, Red House, Md., on October 16, with Rev. Alvah K. Jones, pastor, officiating.

The bride wore a street-length dress of blue crepe with black accessories and a yellow rosebud corsage. Miss Bernettie Pennington, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor and wore a dress suit of grey with black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Arnold is a member of the senior class of Parsons High School. Mr. Arnold is employed by the Davis Coal and Coke Company of Thomas.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Can you influence a child's taste in food?

Answer: Decidedly. Judging by the strange things children of primitive tribes eat, a child's natural instinct is to eat whatever he can get that will provide the nourishment he needs. The likes and dislikes your child develops depend largely upon the feelings he comes to associate with various foods, or with those who feed him. A child who has seen his baby-sitter show disgust at the liver he has always enjoyed may refuse to eat it, or if he dislikes the sitter, may acquire a distaste for anything she habitually feeds him.

Answer: Yes, if by a "vice" you mean a habit which the person can't break because it has come to be his one way of avoiding problems which he has lost hope of solving. There are people who shun social contacts which they do not dare face by staying in bed all the time when they don't have to be up and at work. Indeed, the attraction of escape through "rest in bed" is so insidious, even for comparatively normal people, that physicians are becoming more and more reluctant to prescribe it unless it is absolutely necessary.

Is personality a factor in tuberculosis?

Answer: Yes, report three members of the staff of the National Jewish Hospital, Denver, Col., in the American Journal of Orthopsychiatry. Psychological and psychiatric study of a group of 16 patients showed a large proportion of them to be suffering from personality disorders, of which the most frequent were an extreme wish to be dependent or a conflict over suppressing this wish. Also, on the whole, the patients who were able to express conscious hostility or anger when they felt mistreated seemed more likely to recover than the "meek" ones.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .3 of one point to 67.3, which compared with the 1949 high of 67.5 touched on October 13. The industrial group led the way. A minor gain put the utility group at the year's high while rails were unchanged on average.

A total of 1,070 individual issues changed hands of which 492 advanced and 281 declined.

New highs for the year were established by 53 stocks and lows by 5.

Benguet Consolidated Mining, the Philippine Gold Producer, headed the active list, rising ⅛ to 2½ Du Pont, a late starter but second most active issue, gained ⅞ at 55⅜.

U. S. Steel and General Motors were also late favorites, with Big Steel up ⅛ at 24½ and GM ⅜ ahead at 66.

International Paper jumped a point to a 1949 peak in the first response to news of a proposed split-up of the common. Almost immediately, however, the gain was lost and the stock ended ⅛ down at 63⅞.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line, on the other hand, ran up 3½ to 67 on word that directors had proposed to split the stock two-for-one.

An extra dividend for Poor & Company helped lift the price ½ to 12⅝ while Proctor & Gamble, apparently under the influence of rumors of a split-up or higher dividend, bounded 2¾ to 78¼.

The day's volume of $2,500,000 par value was only scant improvement over yesterday's $2,440,000.

Long-term U. S. Treasury bonds generally were higher, with the 2¾s of 1959-56 and 1963-58 each gaining 2-32 of a point at 110 12-32 bid and 111 16-32 bid, respectively. The advances were nominal with volume extremely light in over-the-counter trading.

Baltimore Livestock

Railroads Moving About 300 Cars Of Coal Daily

Between 200 and 300 carloads of coal are being moved daily over the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and about 20 carloads per day over the Western Maryland despite the current coal strike, it was noted here yesterday.

Railroad officials confirmed reports that three or four coal trains per day are sent over the B & O's Cumberland Division, totaling between 200 and 300 cars, but said most of the coal is from non-union strip mines.

Last night for example, the traffic schedule of the Baltimore and Ohio showed three coal trains to be moved by this morning with a total of 233 loads.

These trains began in the Grafton, W. Va., area with coal loads picked up at Tunnelton, Hutton, M and K Junction and one or two other points. All of the strip mines operating are in the nearby West Virginia area, railroad officials said.

On the Western Maryland, coal that is being shipped was termed "a mere drop in the bucket" and isn't over 15 or 20 carloads per day . . . all strip mined coal.

In Allegany and Garrett Counties, union spokesmen, miners, and officials said there are no mines working, except one or two small fire coal mines. Some coal is being trucked into Cumberland from nearby Pennsylvania for household use, it was reported.

In Mineral County, a few small deep mines and several strippers are operating and this coal is being moved largely by truck.

It was unofficially reported in railroad circles that two fairly large deep mines, normally union operations, reopened this week in the Grafton-Charleston, W. Va., area.

Railroad men say the demand for strip mine coal rises when deep mines close down and usually declines when the deep mines resume operations. They termed the coal movement through here "far below normal."

Naval Reserve Awarded Trophy For Efficiency

Division 5-9, Naval Reserve, will receive the second place efficiency trophy for surface units in the Fifth Naval District during the regular drill period tonight, Lt. Cmdr. Charles B. Gray, incpestor-instructor, announced last night.

The presentation will be made by Capt. R. C. Hudson, USN, Norfolk, Va., chief of staff to the Commandant of the Fifth Naval District at approximately 9 p. m.

Capt. Hudson will be accompanied by Capt. O. L. Livdahl, USN, director of the Naval Reserve of the Fifth Naval District.

The trophy, Cmdr. Gray explained, is awarded as a result of competition during 1949 for quality of performance, training program, administration, appearance and performance of personnel.

The most emphasis is placed on the efficiency and value of the training program, Cmdr. Gray added.

Last year, the local division took first place among the 28 surface units in the district, and lost out by only .06 of one per cent to Division 5-22, Roanoke, Va., this year.

Hearing Scheduled In Sterner Death

A hearing has been scheduled Friday morning at 10 o'clock in Friendsville in connection with a fatal mine accident Monday afternoon, according to Frank Powers, Frostburg, head of the Maryland Bureau of Mines.

Ross Harrison Sterner, a 34-year-old former paratrooper of Route 3, Confluence, Pa., was killed instantly as he and his father and brother were investigating an old mine working at Mill Run, Garrett County, preparatory to leasing it.

Sterner and his brother, Woodrow, had gone in about 200 feet from the old opening when the former was struck by a fall of rock when the roof caved in. Powers said the mine had not been worked in many years.

The father, Jesse Sterner, had remained outside while the two men investigated the workings, Powers reported.

Friday's hearing will be conducted by Federal Mine Inspector Harry Jones of Frostburg, District Mine Inspector Edward Stowell of Mt. Savage, and Powers.

Commerce Committee To Meet Tomorrow

The membership activities committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will meet at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow in the C. of C. office in the Liberty Trust Building to make final plans for a dinner meeting November 1.

B. K. Slaughter, division chairman of the small business section, will speak at the dinner. C. Philip Jolley heads the committee.

The directors of the Mercantile Bureau, the Christmas decorations committee and the Sales Promotion Committee will hold a joint meeting at 10 a. m. Friday to consider plans for Christmas decorations.

Prepare Treats For North End Halloween Party

Working until well past midnight last night, these people packaged 1,500 treats for North End youngsters who will participate in the annual North End Halloween parade tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Children who are masked or dressed in costumes will be eligible to march and marchers will get their treats at the North End Playground field house where the parade is to disband. In the photo (left to right) are Samuel Druebeck, Charles Keyser, Mrs. John Horchler, Mrs. Howard Green, Mrs. Robert Herboldsheimer, Mrs. Eric Roeder, Mrs. William Roeder, James McGann and Mrs. Clifford Bowling.

North End Will See Mummers March Tonight

1500 Treats Prepared For Area Children

The North End Mummers parade will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock, featuring Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars Drum Corps, Fulton Meyers Post No. 154, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, and Allegany High School Band.

Treats will be distributed to children who march in the parade and 10 prizes are to be awarded to children for winning costumes.

The parade will form at Ruehl Avenue, move to Pulaski Street, to Columbia Avenue to Holland Street, to the North End Playground where 1,500 treats will be distributed at the field house.

Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, will be parade marshall and will lead the merrymakers to the playground for the Halloween party.

Judges for costumes will be stationed at the corner of Columbia Avenue and Holland Street. They include City Commissioner William Edwards, Mrs. Chester Collins, Jacob Wilson, Eugene Hilton, and Murvel Kauffman.

Cub Pack 3 Reactivated

Cub Pack 3, Gephart Parent-Teacher Association, will be reactivated with a membership of 20 boys, Willis V. Smith, Potomac Council Boy Scout executive, announced yesterday.

At an organization meeting Monday night, Paul Fisher was named Pack Committee chairman with P. M. Merriott and W. ELawyer, committee members.

E. V. Oster will be cubmaster and his assistants will be Howard A. King and James Sills.

The reactivated pack will be divided into five dens. Denmothers have been appointed for three of the groups and two others will be named later.

Mrs. Larry Shafferman will be den mother in charge of Richard Merriott, Jack Fisher, Paul Hasenbuhler and Larry Shafferman. Another den, composed of Ronald Mortzfeldt, Billy Adams, John Llewellyn, John Clark and Billy Sansom, will be headed by Mrs. Eula Mortzfeldt.

Mrs. George Loy will serve as den mother for George Loy, Charles Oster, Charles Robinson, John Schuck and Charles Norris.

Members of the other two dens are Robert King, Glenn Davis and Gary Miller, Den Four, and Robert Burton, Charles Langham and Marvin Kroll, Den Five.

Pack leaders will meet November 3 at 7:30 p. m. to make further plans for group activities. The pack should have its charter within a month, Smith said.

First Baptist Revival Continues

Large audiences have been attending the revival services which opened at First Baptist Church Sunday evening, and will continue each evening until Wednesday November 2.

Rev. Frank L. Snyder, pastor of Clarendon First Baptist Church, Arlington, Va., is the evangelist for the nine-day meeting.

News Briefs

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW Drum Corp, has designed two large banners pubilcizing the VFW membership drive and also announcing vacancies in the drum corps. These banners, about 30 feet long each, will be carried at all public appearances of the corps, according to Vernon Crable, president.

Delaney Addresses Exchange Club

J. Leo Delaney, director of the Rehabilitation Division of the State Board of Education, last night addressed members of the Cumberland Exchange Club on "Work with the Physically and Mentally Handicapped."

Delaney, speaking at the club's weekly dinner-meeting at Ali Ghan Country Club, said his agency trained 800 handicapped persons for jobs in the last year.

George Kellar, head of the education repartment's rehabilitation service for the blind, declared his agency trained 50 blind people for jobs last year. Kellar, who is blind, said there are about 3,000 blind people in Maryland.

Tall Cedars To Be Instituted Saturday Night

Supreme Officers Plan To Attend

Approximately 800 persons, including Supreme Forest officers, are expected to attend institution ceremonies of Algonquin Forest No. 140, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, this Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the State Armory.

Arthur E. Farmer, Trenton, N. J., supreme tall cedar, will conduct the installation of officers and will present the charter of Algonquin Forest to George Sheldon Brown, grand tall cedar of the local group.

Rev. Clyde Lynch, president of Lebanon Valley College, Pa., who is supreme chaplain, will present the new Forest with a white altar Bible at the institution ceremony.

Other supreme officers planning to attend include William F. Schmidt, Staten Island, N. Y., senior deputy tall cedar; John H. McFaul, Jr., Baltimore, junior deputy tall cedar; Edmund H. Reeves, Camden, N. J., supreme scribe; Thomas E. Havell, Washington, D. C., chairman of the Supreme Forest extension committee; and John H. Kline, Easton, Pa., supreme treasurer.

The day's events will get underway Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the 161 charter members of Algonquin Forest will meet at the State Armory to receive their final instructions as candidates.

A buffet supper for candidates only will be served at the Armory at 5:30 p. m.

Several uniformed units from area Forests will march in a parade, starting at 7 o'clock at the Armory. Participants will march up Centre Street to Market, over to Mechanic and down to Baltimore Street, going to George Street and disbanding at the Armory.

Besides the 161 candidates, those taking part will include the band, Rangers (drill team), color guard and Skin Busters (mock initiation team) from Hagerstown Forest No. 95; band, Rangers and color guard from Capitol Forest No. 104, Washington, D. C.; Chanters (glee club) from Al-O-Mon Forest, McKeesport, Pa., and color guards from Westmoreland Forest No. 77, Derry, Pa.

Members of the Fort Hill High School Band have also accepted an invitation to march in the parade.

The 161 Master Masons who are charter members of Algonquin Forest represent Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Ridgeley, Hyndman, Bedford, Moorefield, Petersburg, Keyser and other nearby communities.

Hagerstown Forest will exemplify the ceremonial, prologue and royal court regrees, the serious ritual of the Tall Cedars, and the Sidonian degree, the "fun" ritual, at the ceremonies Saturday night.

Refreshments will be served following the institution.

Brown announced that final arrangements will be discussed at a meeting of Algonquin Forest Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Moose Home.

Four Countians To Attend State PTA Convention In Baltimore

Four Allegany County members of the board of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers will participate in the Congress' 34th annual convention next month in Baltimore.

They are Mrs. Edward Wilson, chairman of the County PTA Council; Miss Margaret C. Jones of the Frostburg State Teachers College laboratory school; Mrs. John E. Lancaster, state treasurer, and Miss Mae Bolt, state magazine chairman.

Sessions will be held November 3, 4 and 5 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. Theme of the convention, "The Home, School and Child March Forward," will be introduced by Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, vice president of Region I of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Emil Smith, Silver Spring, president of the state congress, will preside at the convention and Mrs. J. Howard Burns of the Dundalk PTA will be general chairman. Mrs. Stanley G. Cook, a past president of the state organization, is in charge of the program.

The first general session will open at 8:30 a. m. Thursday, November 3, with registration of delegates and visitors. After the registration a convention sing will be conducted by Mrs. Granville Eagler, state music director.

Dr. William H. Lemmel, superintendent of Baltimore City Schools will extend greetings, and reports of convention committees will follow. Included will be a report by Mrs. Lancaster, who is state credentials chairman.

At 10:45 the state president will give her report, Mrs. Jenkins will introduce the convention theme and the group will adjourn for a life membership luncheon at 12:30 p. m.

The second general session the same afternoon will consist mostly of committee reports and discussions. A local presidents' meeting and a council presidents' meeting will be held at 6:30 p. m.

A "Local Delegates Night" program will be conducted at 8 p. m. at the hotel's Caswell Room.

The third general session will open at 8:30 a. m. Friday with registration. Most of the day will be devoted to discussions, including one by Miss Jones on "Co-operation with Colleges," and another led by Mrs. Myra C. Martin, state mem-

Scout Executive To Attend Parley

Charles W. Steele, Philadelphia, Pa., deputy regional Boy Scout executive, will be present at a meeting of Potomac Council today at 6 p. m. at the home of Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, W. Va.

Twenty-one council members, eight from Cumberland District, are expected to attend the meeting, according to Willis V. Smith, council executive. Julian Patrick, Westernport, council president, will preside.

Smith added that Steele will make his routine visit to council headquarters Thursday.

Weather

Say what you will about yesterday's nasty weather, at least it was consistent. For one wild moment, the thermometer managed to get up to 42 degrees. Then, it settled in a groove one degree lower and stayed there. Forty-one degree temperatures only add to the misery that 0.55 inch of steady rain can cause. Today will be cloudy, with scattered showers and even colder weather toward evening.

Fort Hill Girl Named President Of Baby-Sitters

New Club Draws Up Regulations

Fifteen-year-old Erminia Warnick, a freshman at Fort Hill High School, was elected president of the new Baby-Sitter Club at its organization meeting yesterday in City Hall auditorium.

Sponsored by the City Recreation Department, the club is designed as a community project to give parents more free time for recreation and to provide teen-agers a chance for part-time earnings.

Approximately 100 girls attended the meeting, which was opened by City Recreation Director Edmund F. Hoey.

Other new officers are Nancy Hamilton, a sophomore at Fort Hill, and Jo Ann Montgomery, a Fort Hill senior. They registered only yesterday to join the club.

An executive board was also named to represent various sections of the city. In includes Delores Jackson and Mary Jane Mann, North End; Myrna Rice and Shirley Twigg, South End; Pat Doud and Nellie Wilson, West Side; and Sarah Barnes and Mary Shrieb, East Side.

The officers and executive board will meet next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock to work out a program of social activities for the club.

Rates will be 35 cents hourly until midnight, with 50 cent an hour after midnight. The same rate will apply despite the number of children to be cared for, provided they are all in the same family.

A flat fee of 50 cents will be charged for less than two hours' work.

Other regulations follow:

Soot And Dirt Ruin Automobile Finishes, Local Citizen Writes

In sending his entry to the Jaycee-sponsored letter contest on smoke abatement, William F. Radcliff of 208 West Third Street states "My wife, my daughter and I live where the smoke really is!"

He adds, "I work at a local used car lot keeping cars clean. The soot and dirt really settle on the cars, which will in time ruin the finish. I would like to see something done about the smoke in Cumberland, so when my daughter is grown up she can say 'I remember when this town was really smoky, but look at it now!' "

James Alfred Avirett, chairman of the Jaycee Smoke Control Committee which is sponsoring the letter contest as part of a long-range educational program on smoke control, urges men and women from all parts of Cumberland to send in their letters.

Complete this thought in as many words as you wish: "I Want Less Smoke in Cumberland Because." Three cash prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded.

Entries must be postmarked before midnight, Monday, October 31, and addressed to the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, Room 514, Liberty Trust Building.

Decision of the judges will be announced as quickly as possible after all letters are studied. Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, Mrs. C. Erich Roeder and Marcus A. Naughton will serve as judges.

"The letter contest," says Avirett, "is making many people acutely aware of Cumberland's continuing smoke problem. Just as soon as enough citizens, particularly housewives, become familiar with the problem and set out to do something about it we will begin to have effective smoke control in Cumberland."

Complete details on how the average citizen can assist in the campaign are now being formulated by the Jaycees in co-operation with George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer, according to Avirett.

Ellis Admits Burglary At LaVale Home

Held Here In Locker Thefts

Alfred Ellis, 31, self-styled football talent scout held in connection with the rifling of lockers at Ridgeley High School Saturday, last night told police he also had stolen valuables from a LaVale home, according to Assistant Chief B. F. Gaffney.

Gaffney said Ellis, who told him he was from Denver, Colo., said he took a camera, a stickpin and two silver dollars from the home of Chester Abramson, LaVale on the morning of October 14 or 15.

Holsinger reported the trailer was locked, and State Police indicated they would search Ellis' effects today.

Ellis is scheduled to be turned over to West Virginia authorities today for prosecution.

Mineral County Prosecuting Attorney Don C. Hott said last night Ellis probably will be charged with grand larceny. He added, however, that no formal charge will be lodged until an investigation is completed.

Ellis, who remained in City Jail last night, has indicated he will waive extradition, according to West Virginia State Trooper Frank W. Bowley, who said he will take the prisoner into Circuit Court today to sign a waiver.

Detective Ernest M. Powell and Officer Charles Cubbage said they found seven watches, $4.75 in cash, nine keys and a gold knife on a chain when they searched Ellis' trailer in LaVale Monday afternoon.

Ellis, according to Ridgeley Police Chief Jesse Elkins, had represented himself as a Michigan State College football talent scout to inspect the school building last Thursday, two days before the thefts.

Hebb Installed President Of Republican Club

Victor M. Hebb, 430 South Street, a Baltimore and Ohio machinist was installed president of the South End Republican Club for his fourth successive term last night at the club.

Installed to serve with him were Herbert F. Wilson, vice president succeeding Jerry Beachie; William Shipley, treasurer, succeeding Milton Ryan; and Norman S. Mohr, secretary, succeeding Howard Larry.

Edgar M. Lewis, a member of the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County was installing officer.

Following the installation and the regular business meeting about 125 members and friends were served refreshments.

The club meets regularly the 25th of each month, with the annual election held October 25 and the installation November 25.

Man Injured In Route 40 Ditch

A 62-year-old LaVale man was admitted to Allegany Hospital last night for treatment of a possible fractured skull after he fell into a ditch while walking along Route 40 in LaVale.

Hospital attaches identified the patient as Timothy Law and said he also suffered abrasions of the right knee. They added he was brought to the hospital by State Police shortly before 11 p. m.

Andrews was brought to the hospital at about 3 p. m. and reported in "good" condition last night.

Property Sales Total $34,400

Four deeds were filed for record at the office of the clerk of court yesterday, showing property transfers totaling $34,400.

Ralph G. and Ethel M. Cover conveyed four lots on Walnut Street, Bowling Green, to the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company for $7,000.

James P. and Elizabeth E. McCusker sold to Marshall B. and Virginia E. Van Meter, property in Pinehurst Addition to Cresaptown for $7,000.

James T. and Gladys L. Kenney conveyed to Richard T. Bartlett, Sr., and Will-Fred Hendrickson Bartlett, a property on Piedmont Avenue here for $10,900.

The Liberty Trust Company, trustee for Margaret Ann Peddicord, sold to James Wilkins, Jr., and Winifred Eileen Wilkins, property on Louisiana Avenue for $9,500.

Jury Excused

The petit jury has been excused until Monday at 9:15 a. m. according to Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden. Several civil cases set for trial this week have been settled or continued, he explained.

Cabbie Says Rider Hit Him With Rock

West Virginia State Police were investigating a report of a local cab driver that he had been struck on the head by a passenger last night while on a trip between Keyser and Cumberland.

The driver, Dewey Shoemaker, 320 Pennsylvania Avenue, told police he picked up an unidentified passenger in Cumberland and took him to Keyser last night.

On the return trip, Shoemaker said, the passenger asked him to stop the cab, got out, struck Shoemaker on the head with a brick, and fled. The man made no attempt to rob him, but threw the brick through the window of his cab before running away, Shoemaker declared.

Ministers Name Committees For Ensuing Year

Relief Truck Will Visit City Nov. 15

The appointments, made by Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of Living Stone Church of the Brethren and president of the association, were approved at the session.

Announcement was made that the relief truck from the Church World Service Center at New Windsor, Md., will visit Cumberland November 15 to pick up donations of food, clothing and other relief articles for shipment overseas.

Churches were urged to co-operate in collecting such articles and depositing them at the two collection centers to be visited by the truck on that date. The centers are at First Presbyterian Church, Washington Street, and Living Stone Church of the Brethren, North Cedar Street.

The truck visits Cumberland every three months.

New Committee Named

A new committee on visual education was formed, with Winfield H. Adam, general secretary of Central YMCA, as chairman. Other members are Rev. Norman O. Scribner, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church; and Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church.

This years' executive committee includes Rev. Scrogum, president; Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor of the Cresaptown, Rawlings and Dawson Methodist Circuit, vice president; and Adam, secretary-treasurer.

Other executive committee members are Rev. Scribner and Rev. O. Afton Linger, pastor of First Baptist Church.

Rev. Scrogum, dean of the interdenominational training school for Sunday School officers and teachers held earlier this month at Centre Street Church, gave a report on the school. It was sponsored by the Ministerial Association for the fourth year, with 50 persons enrolled.

A similar training school will be held next year, with arrangements to be made by the training school committee, headed by Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Luthern Church.

Other members are Rev. Scrogum, Rev. Scribner, Rev. Carl H. Clapp, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church, and Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

The radio committee, headed by Rev. Linger, was asked to canvass members to determine how many ministers would take part in religious broadcasts.

To Plan Service

Rev. William James Elliott, pastor of First Methodist Church, was named chairman of the 1950 Easter sunrise service program committee.

He will be assisted by Rev. Walter F. Reif, pastor of St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Bowling Green; Rev. B. Ralph Mark, pastor of LaVale Methodist Church; and Rev. Allen B. L. Fisher, pastor of Grace Methodist Church.

Named to the program committee for the year were Rev. Chastain, chairman; Rev. Elliott and Rev. R. E. Logan, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Rev. Mark will be chairman of the hospital committee, which arranges services for nurses at local hospitals. Assisting him will be Rev. Brake and Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church.

Rev. Keesecker was appointed chairman of the membership committee, to be assisted by Rev. Beard and Rev. C. Neal Hutchinson, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene.

Increased Interest In Jaycee Comedy Noted

Increased interest in the comedy stage hit, "Fair and Warmer" was noted yesterday in reserved seat ticket sales, according to Robert Little Ebert, president of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, sponsors of the project.

The play, presented by the Civic Drama Guild of New York, begins at 8 p.m. Saturday in Allegany High School Auditorium. Robert Paquin, who was featured in the New York cast of "Annie Get Your Gun" last season, will play the lead.

Reserved seats are now on sale at the S. T. Little Jewelry Company and also will be sold at the boxoffice on Saturday night.

TWUA Seeks Backing For Housing Plan

Groups Asked To Urge Acceptance

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) will urge representatives of all veterans, labor and civic groups in the county to attend the Friday meeting of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to ask the board to set up a county housing authority.

Playford Aldridge, president of Local 1874, said yesterday his union is soliciting the groups to attend the meeting "in an effort to convince the County Commissioners they would be acting in the interests of all the citizens of the county" in forming a housing authority.

Aldridge added that other communities are "grabbing at" the opportunity to set up housing authorities under the federal Public Housing Administration program.

Pointing to a "definite need for low-cost housing" in the county, Aldridge said his local will spearhead a movement to effect the program in Allegany County.

Two PHA men, John Gilbert Zieler, attorney to the federal agency, and a field representative are scheduled to attend the Friday meeting to clarify regulations concerning establishment of an authority in the county.

Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the board, has announced he is "100 per cent in favor of establishing such an authority" to provide low-rent housing units for persons with small incomes.

Other organizations expected to be represented at the meeting include Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, Frostburg, and Carpenters Local (AFL) and several other groups.

The two federal representatives are scheduled to attend the first meeting of the Cumberland Housing Authority tomorrow night at the mayor's office in City Hall. City Attorney Thomas B. Finan also has been asked to attend.

The group will discuss the by-laws for the housing authority, and study the public housing situation.

Clothing Drive At Ridgeley Is Scheduled Today

A clothing drive to collect used or new wearing apparel for needy school children will be held in Ridgeley, W. Va., this afternoon under the joint sponsorship of the Ridgeley Lions Club and Knobley Mountain Post No. 156, American Legion.

Members of Boy Scout Troop No. 71 will meet at the Legion home at 1 p. m. to make a tour of the town and visit each house. The boys will remind residents of the drive and assist in placing clothing bundles on curbs to be picked up by a truck.

The clothing will be taken to Frantz's Store, where it is to be sorted by members of the American Legion Auxiliary. After it is sorted and sized, one day each week will be designated for distribution to those needing it.

Conservationists Plan Talks

The Allegany County Soil Conservation Service will give conservation talks and show movies to area sportsman's clubs during November, according to Charles D. Crocker, unit conservationist.

The movies will be "Realm of the Wild" and "Heritage We Guard," Crocker said.

Conservation officials Crocker, E. Stuart Delbrook and Martin Gordon will be assisted by Dale Arner, wildlife technician for the Forestry Department.

Dates scheduled for the programs are November 1, Oldtown Outdoor Club; November 2, Shaft Sportsmen's Club; November 4, Upper Potomac Rod and Gun Club, Westernport, and Allegany Beagle Club.

November 6, Eckhart Square Circle Club; November 7, Cumberland Outdoor Club and Mt. Savage Sportsmen's Club; November 9, Carlos Sportsmen's Club; November 10, Finzel Rod and Gun Club, and November 18, Mapleshade Farmer's and Sportsmen's Club at Miller's Garage, Dawson.

The service also will give a permanent agriculture program for Farm Bureau Planning Group 4 November 3 at 8 p. m. at the Eckhart Spuare Circle clubhouse.

Crocker will address a meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club November 2 at 6 p. m. at Central Y.M.C.A.
